VETERANS' LOAN BILL PASSED BY THE HOUSE

Groom Magnus Johnson For Agricultural Commr.

COMMITTEE OF SENATE TAKES UP HOLMBERG CASE

GOVERNOR OLSON OBJECTS TO THE HOLMBERG APPOINTMENT

WAS ONE OF 122 INTERIM APPOINTMENTS NAMED BY CHRISTIANSON

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Gov. Floyd B. Olson today charged that N. J. Holmberg, commissioner of agriculture, is being "groomed for the governorship in 1932" and for that reason, and others, should not have his appointment confirmed by the senate.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Possibility that Magnus Johnson may be Minnesota's next agricultural commissioner was discussed today as the senate agriculture committee met to discuss the case of N. J. Holmberg, present commissioner, to whose appointment Gov. Floyd B. Olson is opposed.

Holmberg was one of the 122 interim appointees named by former Governor Theodore Christianson on his last day in office. Governor Olson objected to the entire list of appointments but centered his opposition on Holmberg.

The senate refused to confirm Holmberg's nomination and sent his name back to the agriculture committee for the hearing, which was scheduled for 2 P. M. today. The committee is predominantly farmer-laborite.

Friends of the governor have consistently declared that Olson wishes to give an appointment to Johnson, who is a staunch farmer-laborite. Other candidates for the agricultural commission are L. L. Cornwell of Pine Island, a former banker now engaged in large scale farming; A. C. Welch of Glencoe, president of the Minnesota Farmer-Labor Association; and K. A. Kirkpatrick, agricultural expert of Hennepin county.

Legislators close to the governor said the appointment probably will go to a man outside Minneapolis and St. Paul. Four major appointments already have gone to the Twin Cities, namely, E. J. Pearlove and Mrs. F. W. Wittich as members of the Big Three; George E. Wallace as tax commissioner; all of Minneapolis; and W. D. Stewart of St. Paul, game and fish commissioner.

Johnson has been mentioned for several other state positions, including that of chairman of the state rural credits bureau.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Charges that N. J. Holmberg, commissioner of agriculture whose re-appointment is under fire, had surrendered the state's right to inspect potatoes were made today by James Witherow, Moorhead attorney representing the Red River Valley Potato Growers before a joint hearing of the house and senate committee on marketing and markets.

Witherow said that under the present law, the department of agriculture was supposed to appoint inspectors to grade all potatoes. The inspectors were to receive $5 a carload and to be paid by the state.

He charged that Holmberg had told large shippers and buyers that the cost was too much for the state and that they could hire their own inspectors. He said the larger firms had done this and had paid the men $150 a month to grade the potatoes.

'Take the Witness Stand' Order is Obeyed Literally

Moundville, W. Va., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—The court order "take the witness stand" was interpreted literally here today by Mike Noval who was stopped while leaving the court room with the witness stand on his broad shoulders. Noval, a witness in a civil trial, was ordered to "take the witness stand" by Judge James F. Shipman. He picked it up and started out of the room.

It was Noval's first visit to a courtroom.

Decries Present Day Modes of Eating and Drinking

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Present day modes of living in America will result in this generation eating and drinking its way towards diseased middle life and premature death, Dr. William Gerry Morgan, Washington, D. C., president of the American Medical Association, said in an address here today.

Great Western May Use Trucks in Freight Haulage

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Substitution of trucks in freight haulage by the Chicago Great Western Railroad Co. between St. Paul and Rochester, Red Wing and other southern Minnesota points may result from a hearing set for March 4 before the state railroad and warehouse commission.

FOREIGN REVUES AND SCANTILY CLAD GIRLS APPEARED IN ROME

Rome, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Foreign revues in which scantily clad girls have appeared in Rome were believed responsible today for the outburst of Pope Pius XI condemning the cinema and vaudeville programs of the capital for their pronounced immorality.

A number of small cinemas have shown cheap vaudeville programs recently, which also were considered as contributory causes.

Local critics had not attacked any performances as immoral. The press was included among the contemporary evils of Rome when the pope addressed the Rome Lent preachers.

LIMIT FINES ON PAST-DUE CAR LICENSES

LEGISLATURE TAKES ACTION SETTING FINE LIMIT AT $5

SENATE PASSED BILL LATE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON, OTHER BILL FAILED TO PASS

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Motorists who failed to obtain their 1931 license plates before the time limit expired had reason for satisfaction today in a bill passed by the legislature limiting the fines on past-due applications to $5.

In passing the bill, the senate ruled that motorists who had not applied for their plates by last night must pay fines of 25 cents a day for the first four days and $1 for each 33 days thereafter. The maximum fine will be $5.

In former years the fine was $5 a day for the first 10 days and $1 a month from that time until new plates were purchased.

The senate passed the bill late yesterday while hundreds of motorists were standing in line at the motor registration bureau in the state capitol, waiting to get their plates.

Immediate passage of a bill which would extend the time limit until March 14 was blocked when sponsors failed to obtain sufficient votes to pass it under suspension of rules.

CRITICISES HANDLING FINANCES OF CASS AND BELTRAMI COUNTIES

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Criticism of the methods of handling finances by Beltrami and Cass counties was reported today by Arthur A. Johnson, state public examiner.

Beltrami county has an over deposit of $11,953 in the First National Bank of Bemidji and also has $16,000 in bonds, which are not legal collateral in three banks, the report showed.

The report recommended that in Cass county money obtained from the sale of game and fish licenses be deposited with the county auditor's office immediately instead of first being deposited on his personal account.

During 1930 $479 more than is allotted was paid out in clerks' salaries in Cass county and the probate judge's salary was $50 too high, the report said.

Governor Olson Asks Present Subordinates Be Kept in Office

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Governor Floyd B. Olson today said he had instructed newly appointed state officials to keep the present subordinates in office.

Jobs of more than 600 state employees are secured by the announcement. The governor said that under present conditions no useful purpose can be served by a wholesale house-cleaning.

"I do not feel responsible to any clique or group and for that reason I can see no need for replacing present subordinates with others, and perhaps less competent people, for the sake of political expediency," he said.

PRES. HOOVER IS TO RECOMMEND HIGHER POSTAL RATES

Washington, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—President Hoover will shortly send a message to congress recommending an increase in postal rates, he personally announced at the White House today.

At the same time Mr. Hoover said he had signed the Kendall bill providing for a 44-hour week for postal employees.

Pointing to the prospect that the deficit of the postoffice department this fiscal year will be close to $100,000,000, the president said it was absolutely necessary that congress pass some legislation to bring the postal books near a balance.

Only Dozen of Over 800 Bills Introduced At This Legislative Session Became Laws

MORE TO PASS IN 56 DAYS OF REST OF SESSION

SO FAR GOV. OLSON HAS APPROVED EVERY MEASURE PASSED

GOVERNOR'S CAMPAIGN "TO CLEAN HOUSE IN CAPITOL" APPARENTLY ENDED

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Only a dozen of more than 800 bills introduced during the first 34 days of Minnesota's legislative session have been enacted as laws, a United Press survey revealed today.

In the remaining 56 days of the 90 day session, however, the legislators expect to grind out decisions on all of the pending legislation and take action on scores of other matters.

So far, Governor Floyd B. Olson has approved every measure passed by the legislature, including concurrent resolutions memorializing the national congress to pass or not to pass certain federal legislation.

No bill of general importance to the public has been enacted into laws—unless $100,000 initial appropriation bill for payment of salaries to legislators and legislative employees is considered as such.

Gov. Olson's campaign to "clean house in the state capitol" apparently was at an end today with the appointment of Mrs. Frederick W. Wittich of Minneapolis as budget commissioner. Mrs. Wittich's appointment, to succeed A. J. Peterson, was announced yesterday by the governor.

The governor also made public the dismissals of Sam Gordon, state printer for 14 years; George A. Hayes, personnel assistant since 1925, and P. R. Waddell, assistant state purchasing agent for nine years.

Of the bills introduced nearly 500 have gone before the house and more than 400 before the senate. Committees have "killed" about 20 of the measures and the others, except the ones passed and signed by the governor, are awaiting committee action.

The situation is little different from usual legislative procedure. It takes time for the legislative "mill" to start going at anywhere near capacity—it must first have the "grist" for the committees to consider.

This week promises action on several important bills and on various investigations.

State senate committees are expected to start investigations of three gubernatorial appointments—two made by former Gov. Theodore Christianson and one by Gov. Olson.

As a result of the request of Gov. Olson, the senate committee on agriculture took up today the question of whether or not to recommend for confirmation the recess appointment of N. J. Holmberg as commissioner of agriculture, dairy and food.

This was the only one of the 22 recess appointments made by former Gov. Christianson, except for the state building commission, to which Gov. Olson takes exception, and the latter has not yet made known publicly the nature of his objections. While Gov. Olson stated that he wished to "review" the appointment of the seven members of the state building commission, created to select the site and supervise the construction of the proposed $1,500,000 state office building, it was held by the attorney general that these appointments were not subject to approval by the senate.

Gov. Olson stated several times during last fall's campaign that, if elected, he would do everything possible to assume erection of the office building on the Wabasha St. site instead of the University Ave., or "backyard" site, as urged by a majority of the building commission. His request for opportunity to "review" the appointment of members of this commission is understood to mean that he wishes to do everything within his power to meet the wishes of St. Paul citizens and organizations, as well as to comply with the so-called Cass Gilbert plan for development of the state capitol grounds and approaches.

The Ramsey County delegation in the legislature has already introduced bills in both branches for erection of the proposed office building on the Wabasha St. site and hearing on those bills are expected to be started this week.

The house committee on metropolitan drainage, continued its hearings relative to bills for creation of a metropolitan drainage area, consisting of St. Paul, Minneapolis and So. St. Paul, and for construction and operation of a sewage disposal plant to abate the Mississippi River pollution nuisance. Solution of this problem is considered one of the biggest issues before the legislature, particularly in view of the

JUDGE STOLBERG DENIES ROSS PLEA FOR NEW TRIAL

DULUTH MAN HAD SUE WARDEN OF STATE PENITENTIARY

JUDGE ALSO DENIED REQUEST TO SET ASIDE $150 VERDICT

Stillwater, Minn., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Judge A. T. Stolberg of Washington county district court today denied the application of Harold Ross, Duluth, for a new trial in his suit against Warden J. J. Sullivan of the Minnesota state penitentiary.

In announcing his decision, Judge Stolberg also denied a request by Sullivan's attorneys that the verdict that awarded $150 to Ross be set aside.

Ross was confined in the penitentiary at Stillwater beyond his regular sentence, it was contended at the trial, awaiting decision on whether the original trial judge would sentence him on another charge. Eventually, after he had been kept in prison the additional time, the judge decided against the second sentence.

CLAIM LAKE LEVELS MEASURE WILL NOT PASS

CAREY CLAIMS KNUTSON BILL WILL ENDANGER TWIN CITIES WATER SUPPLIES

CHIEF CITY ENGINEER OF ST. PAUL SAYS IT WILL COMPLICATE SEWAGE DISPOSAL

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Possibility that congress will adopt the lake levels measure proposed by Rep. Harold Knutson of St. Cloud, Minn., is dwindling, the St. Paul city council was told today.

William N. Carey, chief city engineer, and Milton Rosen, commissioner of public works, told the council the Knutson measure would endanger the water supplies of Minneapolis and St. Paul and complicate the problem of sewage disposal in the Twin Cities.

Carey asked the council to endorse a revised program for regulating the control of northern Minnesota lake levels, which he received today.

The revised regulations, as approved Feb. 11 by Secretary of War Patrick Hurley, would give the district engineer authority to raise the northern lake levels gradually, but provide safeguards against endangering water supplies of the Twin Cities.

The Knutson bill as originally drafted, Carey said, would remove from the war department any authority in the matter of flowage from the lakes and, resultantly, until the lake levels had been restored fully would slash the river flowage as much as 75 per cent.

St. Paul and Minneapolis should take action at once to forcibly set forth our views in this matter by approving the new regulations of Secretary Hurley," Carey said. "We should let congress know that we are united in opposition to the Knutson measure."

"If this is not done the future water supplies of both cities will be endangered and sewage disposal restricted to such an extent that it will constitute a health menace. The Mississippi river would become a creek under the Knutson bill, and a mighty unhealthy creek at that."

Probable delay by congress in acting on the Knutson bill was forecast in a letter to Carey from Rep. Knutson.

ITALIAN STEAMER PELLEGRA SINKING; APPEALS FOR AID

Marseilles, France, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—The wireless station today intercepted distress messages from the Italian steamer Pellegra, which reported itself in a serious condition and asked for immediate assistance.

The Pellegra, which was leaving, was north of the Balearic Islands. Ships in the vicinity were asked to aid.

3 PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH, 8 INJURED IN NEW YORK FIRE

New York, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Three persons were burned to death, eight injured and 40 others rescued today when fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, swept through a six-story tenement.

The dead were: Mrs. Mass, 40; Mrs. Rachel Rosen, 38, and an unidentified man about 30 years old. The injured, all of whom were overcome by smoke, were treated by ambulance surgeons. Two were sent to Gouverneur hospital.

The fire apparently started in a baby carriage in a lower hallway.

COLD WEATHER BRINGS SUFFERING TO PROSPECTORS

400 GOLD SEEKERS ENCAMPED ALONG LIVINGSTONE RIVER VALLEY

NORTHWEST MOUNTED POLICE START SYSTEM OF REGULAR PATROLS

Lethbridge, Alta., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Flurries of snow and below freezing temperatures brought suffering today to more than 400 gold seekers encamped in tents and crude shelters along the Livingstone river valley.

Northwest Mounted Police started a system of regular patrols through the valley to learn the whereabouts of each prospecting group in the event that a blizzard makes rescue work necessary.

Many of the novice prospectors were poorly equipped and wore only light clothing. Scores of them brought only light blankets with them for shelter.

Mounted police reported that some of the prospectors had strayed more than 50 miles from the railroad or nearest habitation. They carried with them only small food supplies, blankets and hatchets to use in cutting brush on their claims.

In the event of a severe storm, it was said, few of them would be able to live for any length of time in the district without outside aid.

The temperature had dropped to 20 above zero today and the ground was covered with snow. Many prospectors, however, continued their attempts to wash metal from Savannah creek, several miles down the valley.

Already discouraged, some of the prospectors were reported marching out of the valley. Not a trace of gold has been found in the creek, it was said, and assayers reported that samples of ore showed only a slight gold content.

LILLIAN LEITZEL'S ASHES TO REST IN CALIFORNIA

Copenhagen, Denmark, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—The ashes of Lillian Leitzel, whose skill and grace carried her to the peak of fame under the white canvas of many circus tents, will rest in California near the spot where she was planning to build "a wonderful home" when death ended her career.

The body will be cremated after services Thursday at which the English priest, Father Jeson, will officiate.

Later the urn will be taken by her husband, Alfredo Cordona, back to the United States, where she achieved her greatest fame—to California. The famous aerialist had planned to retire to California in the next few years.

Betty Zane Gray, Daughter of Famous Novelist Married

Pasadena, Calif., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Betty Zane Gray, daughter of Zane Gray, author and sportsman, was married here yesterday to Robert W. Carney, film cameraman, and the couple were en route to San Francisco today from where they will sail tomorrow for Tahiti.

At Tahiti, they will meet Gray and his party aboard the yacht Fisherman II, which will spend six months in exploration at Papeete, New Zealand, Australia, Madagascar and the east coast of Africa.

Senate Committee Approves Appointment of J. N. Peyton

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—The senate committee on banks and banking this afternoon unanimously approved the appointment of J. N. Peyton, Duluth, as state bank commissioner.

The action followed a short hearing at which no opposition to Peyton developed.

Peyton succeeds A. J. Veigel who resigned last month to accept a position as head of a Minneapolis banking institution. He was appointed at that time by Gov. Floyd B. Olson.

VOTE RECORDED WAS 368 TO 39 ENDORSEMENT

MEASURE NOW POKES SMILING FACE INTO SENATE, FAVORABLE ACTION EXPECTED

ALSO CONFIDENTLY ASSERTED IT WILL MARSHAL STRENGTH ENOUGH TO RESIST VETO

Washington, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Debate on war veterans' compensation legislation reached the senate today with explosive force, disrupting the legislative program of republican leaders and threatening for a time to bring an immediate vote on the issue.

Washington, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Senate soldier bonus advocates today abandoned efforts to obtain immediate consideration of the bill just passed by the house.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, said on the floor that he intended proposing amendments, and it became evident that there would be considerable support for an amendment to reduce the interest rate below the four and one-half per cent fixed by the house.

By THOMAS L. STOKES (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 17.—The veterans' loan bill poked a smiling face into the senate today, carrying one of the most favorable endorsements ever given by the house of representatives to any legislation.

Only 39 republicans stood by President Hoover late yesterday in one of the most startling reversals given administration house forces in years. Senate advocates of the bill met it today with every intention of hurrying it through, possibly with an even greater endorsement. The house vote was 368 to 39, all negative votes being republican.

Senate Majority Leader Watson said today he thought there should be hearings on the bill, but in the same breath he admitted there is no chance to defeat it. The senate might modify it, he said, and he was speaking of modifying it downward, but indications were that if it is modified, it would be to make its terms still more liberal.

The measure as passed by the house increases the loan limit on adjusted service certificates to 50 per cent of the full matured value and fixes a flat four-and-a-half per cent interest rate on certificate loans.

"I think there should be hearings before the finance committee," Watson said. "No one had ever seen this bill before it was hurriedly voted from the house ways and means committee. Those who opposed it in the house had only 20 minutes to discuss it."

Advocates of the bill in the senate, however, have served notice they will not permit any hearings. They are willing to permit Secretary of Treasury Mellon to appear Wednesday to present his views, as suggested by Watson, but will consent to no undue delay. Their intention is to report the bill out on that day, with the probability of senate action before the end of the week.

During the last few days, there has been a crystallization of sentiment in the senate behind the house bill, possibly with a reduction of the interest rate to four per cent. The idea is to pass the bill in its present form so there will be no occasion for delay. Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, originally an advocate of a cash bonus, now is for the house bill with possibly a reduction in the interest rate.

Those who feared delay and a pocket veto by President Hoover were reassured today by reports the chief executive had no intention of giving the measure a pocket veto but would act promptly, thus giving congress a chance to pass it over his veto.

The desertion of 214 house republicans who joined democrats in the hilarious stampede for the bill yesterday was the subject of lively gossip about the capitol today. It was discussed in connection with the administration's previous firm hold on the house, and specifically in connection with a possible veto. The huge vote for the bill generally was taken as proof the house would pass the measure over a veto.

Meanwhile two senate committees are striving to submit reports which may vastly affect American banking practices and the price of food staples to housewives.

The food price inquiry, only one week old, obtained today for housewives the offer of a five-cent, 16-ounce loaf of bread by the great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company chain stores. Another chain store system in the capital already is selling a pound loaf for a nickel.

In full-page advertisements, the A. & P. Stores announced they would start selling the five-cent loaf today "responding to Washington's cry for bread at lower prices, uttered by the senate committee on food prices."

The committee, which has completed its hearings on flour, bread and sugar, opened today an inquiry into prices of milk and dairy products. Meat and meat products still remain to be investigated.

Oscar Wells, president of the First National Bank of Birmingham, Ala., was scheduled to testify today before

This week promises action on several important bills and on various investigations.

State senate committees are expected to start investigations of three gubernatorial appointments—two made by former Gov. Theodore Christianson and one by Gov. Olson.

As a result of the request of Gov. Olson, the senate committee on agriculture took up today the question of whether or not to recommend for confirmation the recess appointment of N. J. Holmberg as commissioner of agriculture, dairy and food.

This was the only one of the 22 recess appointments made by former Gov. Christianson, except for the state building commission, to which Gov. Olson takes exception, and the latter has not yet made known publicly the nature of his objections. While Gov. Olson stated that he wished to "review" the appointment of the seven members of the state building commission, created to select the site and supervise the construction of the proposed $1,500,000 state office building, it was held by the attorney general that these appointments were not subject to approval by the senate.

Gov. Olson stated several times during last fall's campaign that, if elected, he would do everything possible to assume erection of the office building on the Wabasha St. site instead of the University Ave., or "backyard" site, as urged by a majority of the building commission. His request for opportunity to "review" the appointment of members of this commission is understood to mean that he wishes to do everything within his power to meet the wishes of St. Paul citizens and organizations, as well as to comply with the so-called Cass Gilbert plan for development of the state capital grounds and approaches.

The Ramsey County delegation in the legislature has already introduced bills in both branches for erection of the proposed office building on the Wabasha St. site and hearing on those bills are expected to be started this week.

The house committee on metropolitan drainage, continued its hearings relative to bills for creation of a metropolitan drainage area, consisting of St. Paul, Minneapolis and So. St. Paul, and for construction and operation of a sewage disposal plant to abate the Mississippi River pollution nuisance. Solution of this problem is considered one of the biggest issues before the legislature, particularly in view of the

DULUTH MAN HAD SUEW DEN OF STATE PENITENTIARY

JUDGE ALSO DENIED REQUEST TO SET ASIDE $150 VERDICT

Stillwater, Minn., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Judge A. T. Stolberg of Washington county district court today denied the application of Harold Ross, Duluth, for a new trial in his suit against Warden J. J. Sullivan of the Minnesota state penitentiary.

In announcing his decision, Judge Stolberg also denied a request by Sullivan's attorneys that the verdict that awarded $150 to Ross be set aside.

Ross was confined in the penitentiary at Stillwater beyond his regular sentence, it was contended at the trial, awaiting decision on whether the original trial judge would sentence him on another charge. Eventually, after he had been kept in prison the additional time, the judge decided against the second sentence.

CLAIM LAKE LEVELS MEASURE WILL NOT PASS

CAREY CLAIMS KNUTSON BILL WILL ENDANGER TWIN CITIES WATER SUPPLIES

CHIEF CITY ENGINEER OF ST. PAUL SAYS IT WILL COMPLICATE SEWAGE DISPOSAL

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Possibility that congress will adopt the lake levels measure proposed by Rep. Harold Knutson of St. Cloud, Minn., is dwindling, the St. Paul city council was told today.

William N. Carey, chief city engineer, and Milton Rosen, commissioner of public works, told the council the Knutson measure would endanger the water supplies of Minneapolis and St. Paul and complicate the problem of sewage disposal in the Twin Cities.

Carey asked the council to endorse a revised program for regulating the control of northern Minnesota lake levels, which he received today.

The revised regulations, as approved Feb. 11 by Secretary of War Patrick Hurley, would give the district engineer authority to raise the northern lake levels gradually, but provide safeguards against endangering water supplies of the Twin Cities.

The Knutson bill as originally drafted, Carey said, would remove from the war department any authority in the matter of flowage from the lakes and, resultantly, until the lake levels had been restored fully would slash the river flowage as much as 75 per cent.

St. Paul and Minneapolis should take action at once to forcibly set forth our views in this matter by approving the new regulations of Secretary Hurley," Carey said. "We should let congress know that we are united in opposition to the Knutson measure."

"If this is not done the future water supplies of both cities will be endangered and sewage disposal restricted to such an extent that it will constitute a health menace. The Mississippi river would become a creek under the Knutson bill, and a mighty unhealthy creek at that."

Probable delay by congress in acting on the Knutson bill was forecast in a letter to Carey from Rep. Knutson.

ITALIAN STEAMER PELLEGRINI SINKING; APPEALS FOR AID

Marseilles, France, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—The wireless station today intercepted distress messages from the Italian steamer Pellegrini, which reported itself in a serious condition and asked for immediate assistance.

The Pellegrini, which was leaking, was north of the Balearic Islands. Ships in the vicinity were asked to aid.

Spanish Rulers Face Crisis

The resignation of Premier Gen. Damaso Berenguer (inset) and his Cabinet, brings again to King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain (both above), the truth of the old adage, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown." Alfonso accepted the resignation of the successor to the Prime de Rivera dictatorship, immediately canceled the proposed parliamentary elections scheduled for early in March, and began a conference with political leaders in the hope of averting what may be the greatest crisis in his troubled reign.

3 PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH, 8 INJURED IN NEW YORK FIRE

New York, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Three persons were burned to death, eight injured and 40 others rescued today when fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, swept through a six-story tenement.

The dead were: Mrs. Mass, 40; Mrs. Rachel Rosen, 38, and an unidentified man about 30 years old. The injured, all of whom were overcome by smoke, were treated by ambulance surgeons. Two were sent to Gouverneur hospital.

The fire apparently started in a baby carriage in a lower hallway.

COLD WEATHER BRINGS SUFFERING TO PROSPECTORS

400 GOLD SEEKERS ENCAMPED ALONG LIVINGSTONE RIVER VALLEY

NORTHWEST MOUNTED POLICE START SYSTEM OF REGULAR PATROLS

Lethbridge, Alta., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Flurries of snow and below freezing temperatures brought suffering today to more than 400 gold seekers encamped in tents and crude shelters along the Livingstone river valley.

Northwest Mounted Police started a system of regular patrols through the valley to learn the whereabouts of each prospecting group in the event that a blizzard makes rescue work necessary.

Many of the novice prospectors were poorly equipped and wore only light clothing. Scores of them brought only light blankets with them for shelter.

Mounted police reported that some of the prospectors had strayed more than 50 miles from the railroad or nearest habitation. They carried with them only small food supplies, blankets and hatchets to use in cutting brush on their claims.

In the event of a severe storm, it was said, few of them would be able to live for any length of time in the district without outside aid.

The temperature had dropped to 20 above zero today and the ground was covered with snow. Many prospectors, however, continued their attempts to wash metal from Savannah creek, several miles down the valley.

Already discouraged, some of the prospectors were reported marching out of the valley. Not a trace of gold has been found in the creek, it was said, and assayers reported that samples of ore showed only a slight gold content.

LILLIAN LEITZEL'S ASHES TO REST IN CALIFORNIA

Copenhagen, Denmark, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—The ashes of Lillian Litzel, whose skill and grace carried her to the peak of fame under the white canvas of many circus tents, will rest in California near the spot where she was planning to build "a wonderful home" when death ended her career.

The body will be cremated after services Thursday at which the English priest, Father Jenson, will officiate. Later the urn will be taken by her husband, Alfredo Cordona, back to the United States, where she achieved her greatest fame—to California. The famous aerialist had planned to retire to California in the next few years.

Betty Zane Gray, Daughter of Famous Novelist Married

Pasadena, Calif., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Betty Zane Gray, daughter of Zane Gray, author and sportsman, was married here yesterday to Robert W. Carney, film cameraman, and the couple were en route to San Francisco today from where they will sail tomorrow for Tahiti.

At Tahiti, they will meet Gray and his party aboard the yacht Fisherman II, which will spend six months in exploration at Papeete, New Zealand, Australia, Madagascar and the east coast of Africa.

Meanwhile two senate committees are striving to submit reports which may vastly affect American banking practices and the price of food staples to housewives.

The food price inquiry, only one week old, obtained today for housewives the offer of a five-cent, 16-ounce loaf of bread by the great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company chain stores. Another chain store system in the capital already is selling a pound loaf for a nickel.

In full-page advertisements, the A. & P. Stores announced they would start selling the five-cent loaf today "responding to Washington's cry for bread at lower prices, uttered by the senate committee on food prices."

The committee, which has completed its hearings on flour, bread and sugar, opened today an inquiry into prices of milk and dairy products. Meat and meat products still remain to be investigated.

Oscar Wells, president of the First National Bank of Birmingham, Ala., was scheduled to testify today before the committee.

MEASURE NOW POKES SMILING FACE INTO SENATE, FAVORABLE ACTION EXPECTED

ALSO CONFIDENTLY ASSERTED IT WILL MARSHAL STRENGTH ENOUGH TO RESIST VETO

Washington, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Debate on war veterans' compensation legislation reached the senate today with explosive force, disrupting the legislative program of republican leaders and threatening for a time to bring an immediate vote on the issue.

Washington, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Senate soldier bonus advocates today abandoned efforts to obtain immediate consideration of the bill just passed by the house.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, said on the floor that he intended proposing amendments, and it became evident that there would be considerable support for an amendment to reduce the interest rate below the four and one-half per cent fixed by the house.

By THOMAS L. STOKES (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 17.—The veterans' loan bill poked a smiling face into the senate today, carrying one of the most favorable endorsements ever given by the house of representatives to any legislation.

Only 39 republicans stood by President Hoover late yesterday in one of the most startling reversals given administration house forces in years. Senate advocates of the bill met it today with every intention of hurrying it through, possibly with an even greater endorsement. The house vote was 368 to 39, all negative votes being republican.

Senate Majority Leader Watson said today he thought there should be hearings on the bill, but in the same breath he admitted there was no chance to defeat it. The senate might modify it, he said, and he was speaking of modifying it downward, but indications were that if it is modified, it would be to make its terms still more liberal.

The measure as passed by the house increases the loan limit on adjusted service certificates to 50 per cent of the full matured value and fixes a flat four-and-a-half per cent interest rate on certificate loans.

"I think there should be hearings before the finance committee," Watson said. "No one had ever seen this bill before it was hurriedly voted from the house ways and means committee. Those who opposed it in the house had only 20 minutes to discuss it."

Advocates of the bill in the senate, however, have served notice they will not permit any hearings. They are willing to permit Secretary of Treasury Mellon to appear Wednesday to present his views, as suggested by Watson, but will consent to no undue delay. Their intention is to report the bill out on that day, with the probability of senate action before the end of the week.

During the last few days, there has been a crystallization of sentiment in the senate behind the house bill, possibly with a reduction of the interest rate to four per cent. The idea is to pass the bill in its present form so there will be no occasion for delay. Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, originally an advocate of a cash bonus, now is for the house bill with possibly a reduction in the interest rate.

Those who feared delay and a pocket veto by President Hoover were reassured today by reports the chief executive had no intention of giving the measure a pocket veto but would act promptly, thus giving congress a chance to pass it over his veto.

The desertion of 214 house republicans who joined democrats in the hilarious stampede for the bill yesterday was the subject of lively gossip about the capital today. It was discussed in connection with the administration's previous firm hold on the house, and specifically in connection with a possible veto. The huge vote for the bill generally was taken as proof the house would pass the measure over a veto.

Meanwhile two senate committees are striving to submit reports which may vastly affect American banking practices and the price of food staples to housewives.

The food price inquiry, only one week old, obtained today for housewives the offer of a five-cent, 16-ounce loaf of bread by the great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company chain stores. Another chain store system in the capital already is selling a pound loaf for a nickel.

Lake Edward Busy Hour Club Entertains Husbands at Party

The Lake Edward Busy Hour club entertained their husbands and families on Saturday evening, February 14, at a Valentine party. Contests were carried on among the men in making quilt blocks and buttonholes, with Mr. Buchte winning first prize on the quilt block and Earl Bedore second prize. On buttonhole making, Walter Haff won first prize, and M. C. Gordon the consolation.

The evening was spent in playing games and in relay races. Supper partners were gained by piecing together Valentines, and at 12 o'clock a delicious supper was served by the wives.

According to the men, the party was a "grand success."

Sacred Recital by Irene Cain Osborn at Swedish Baptist Church

A sacred recital will be rendered at the Swedish Baptist church, corner Oak and Tenth streets, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock by Irene Cain Osborn. There will be solos from Handel's "Messiah," piano solos, etc.

OH THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Copyright 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

An office wife with three children, who has worked with her husband all the nine years of their married life, wishes I'd say something that would convey to such a husband the news that a woman with three very dear children, can't have her mind entirely on her work in his office. She wonders if they are too cold, or too warm, or fed correctly or if they miss her and if the maid will watch them carefully so they won't get hurt. Her husband thinks only of business, and even when the children are ill, he wants her to leave them. He says he hates her when she spends money.

"I'd like to stay at home and discharge the maid. It would be such fun to work at home," she says—and God bless her. With so few of them left, think of this one coaxing to be permitted to stay at home!

She even had to discharge the washwoman because he thought that was an extravagance, so with the worry over the children and the work in his office she is going to try to do the washing.

Well I'll tell you what I think and I'd like to tell him and I wish I could have the pleasure of looking at him when I tell him. He is spoiled and you have been too good to him. Why do you ask? Aren't you a partner? He thinks you have a good head, that's why he needs you in his office. Use it. Tell him you are going to stay at home, and take care of your children and make a better home for him. He will like it when he gets it, but he has given orders for so long it will be difficult for him to accept this ultimatum. He is probably totally unaware of his shortcomings. How would he know? The neighbors can't tell him, even if they do tell you. If you take care of a house and three children and do the washing and he thinks that isn't enough, you let him try it for a while and you handle the office. He'd soon learn.

Good nature is a marvelous thing but you illustrate to what extremes it can be carried. If your children are ill and have a fever it is your duty to stay at home.

You sound so awfully sincere and anxious to please him, and you say you know times are hard and that you must retrench till things "pick up." You are sure not to make a mistake if you use your best judgment. Talk to him and tell him what you are going to do. Explain why. Most men want their wives to think of the children before they go to the office and run the business. He's a strange one.

Wright of New Jersey: That total was $1418.95 and not $1469.95. A misprint. I don't know how the woman figured her clothes at $5 a month. Perhaps she will explain. It's pretty sunny in California and perhaps they went barefooted. One woman said bed-quilt of flour sacks. Perhaps this one made rompers. Will she please tell us what they wear? Come on Mrs. Los Angeles.

Frank: Don't take your sister out of the hospital if she needs to be there. You wouldn't be doing her a kindness. Institutions are too overcrowded now I can't believe any doctor would send your sister there if it wasn't the right thing to do.

According to the men, the party was a "grand success."

Sacred Recital by Irene Cain Osborn at
Swedish Baptist Church

A sacred recital will be rendered at the Swedish Baptist church, corner Oak and Tenth streets, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock by Irene Cain Osborn. There will be solos from Handel's "Messiah," piano solos, etc.

"She has ideal beauty of voice, her style is expressive and sympathetic, and it has been said that her voice has in it what many singers have spent thousands of dollars to get by going abroad," said Rev. C. J. Ackerman this morning.

Irene Cain Osborn appeared in Brainerd several years ago, at which time she delighted a large audience with her splendid program. The Brainerd Dispatch carried the following comment on her appearance at that time:

"In her program which she presented last evening, Miss Osborn has certainly learned the art of knowing how to please an audience. She is entitled to much praise for the manner in which she rendered some difficult songs."

A free will offering will be taken up.

OH THESE WOMEN!
By LEOLA ALLARD

Copyright 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

An office wife with three children, who has worked with her husband all the nine years of their married life, wishes I'd say something that would convey to such a husband the news that a woman with three very dear children, can't have her mind entirely on her work in his office. She wonders if they are too cold, or too warm, or fed correctly or if they miss her and if the maid will watch them carefully so they won't get hurt. Her husband thinks only of business, and even when the children are ill, he wants her to leave them. He says he hates her when she spends money.

"I'd like to stay at home and discharge the maid. It would be such fun to work at home," she says—and God bless her. With so few of them left, think of this one cooing to be permitted to stay at home!

She even had to discharge the washwoman because he thought that was an extravagance, so with the worry over the children and the work in his office she is going to try to do the washing.

Well I'll tell you what I think and I'd like to tell him and I wish I could have the pleasure of looking at him when I tell him. He is spoiled and you have been too good to him. Why do you ask? Aren't you a partner? He thinks you have a good head, that's why he needs you in his office. Use it. Tell him you are going to stay at home, and fire what help you don't need, and take care of your children and make a better home for him. He will like it when he gets it, but he has given orders for so long it will be difficult for him to accept this ultimatum. He is probably totally unaware of his shortcomings. How would he know? The neighbors can't tell him, even if they do tell you. If you take care of a house and three children and do the washing and he thinks that isn't enough, you let him try it for a while and you handle the office. He'd soon learn.

Good nature is a marvelous thing but you illustrate to what extremes it can be carried. If your children are ill and have a fever it is your duty to stay at home.

You sound so awfully sincere and anxious to please him, and you say you know times are hard and that you must retrench till things "pick up." You are sure not to make a mistake if you use your best judgment. Talk to him and tell him what you are going to do. Explain why. Most men want their wives to think of the children before they go to the office and run the business. He's a strange one.

Wright of New Jersey: That total was $1418.95 and not $1469.95. A misprint. I don't know how the woman figured her clothes at $5 a month. Perhaps she will explain. It's pretty sunny in California and perhaps they went barefooted. One woman made bed-quits of flour sacks. Perhaps this one made rompers. Will she please tell us what they wear? Come on Mrs. Los Angeles.

Frank: Don't take your sister out of the hospital if she needs to be there. You wouldn't be doing her a kindness. Institutions are too overcrowded now I can't believe any doctor would send your sister there if it wasn't the right thing to do.

URGES ADVERTISING OF FARM PRODUCTS

Butter, Eggs, Poultry, Etc., of Good Quality, Grade Listed by John Brandt

SPEAKS AT CREAMERY MEETING

Proper Advertising Required to Balance Distribution Throughout Country

Advertising on a large scale on butter, eggs, poultry and other farm products of good quality and grade was urged by John Brandt, president of the Land O' Lakes Creamery Association, as a means for return of better times to farmers in the year 1931, at the meeting of the Farmers Cooperative Creamery Association in the Farmers' Room, Court House, this afternoon.

He told the packed assemblage that the reason other products enjoyed a fairly successful year in the face of depression was because of attractive advertising conducted by them.

During the year 1930 $7 per capita was expended for butter in the United States, while $9 was expended per capita for lip sticks and cosmetics. Proper advertising of merchandise will do a great part in returning to balance distribution throughout the country. The speaker favored expenditure of money where it would create the greatest amount of wealth, to bring about increased prosperity. He decried the hoarding of money in the face of depression, blaming such as the reason for poor times. Group bargaining will be a great asset in equalizing wealth, he said.

Mr. Brandt emphatically stated that farm products other than milk and cream should be handled on a market basis from a cooperative creamery. He said that only on this basis can eggs and poultry be properly graded and could elevate the prices asked for the same. He suggested that the Farmers Cooperative enter the field in manufacturing ice cream.

The speaker was also in favor of establishing a tariff on coconut oil, claiming that this can only be done through a cooperative measure of farmers throughout the country. He blamed the low sales of butter to the influx of coconut oil to aid in the manufacture of oleomargarine.

Returning to advertising, he stated that $72,000,000 was expended in advertising cigarettes last year and that from an advertising standpoint the cigarette manufacturers did a very good job of it. "You will never get anywhere" he told the farmers "unless you educate yourself to business principles as conducted in these times." He praised the local creamery and stated that without competition, prices paid farmers would drop.

Several hundred farmers were in attendance at the meeting today. It opened with the acceptance of the auditor's report for the past year, and the treasurer's report was read by August Nelson, and accepted.

Balloting on election of officers started at 3:30 p. m. At 11:30 a. m. a luncheon was served to all visitors.

HOUSE PASSES THE VETERANS LOAN BILL

the banking and currency sub-committee investigating federal reserve and other banking practices.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, discussed the legislative situation with President Hoover in an early call at the White House today.

He said afterward that polls showed the administration would lack two votes of the number necessary in the senate to sustain a possible veto of the veterans' loan bill.

Moses added he thought all appropriation bills would be passed by March 4 and an extra session avoided.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—A prediction that the soldier's bonus bill will be passed by both houses of congress even if it is vetoed by President Hoover, was made by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi in an address before 2,300 Chicago coal dealers and their guests.

Speaking at the 25th anniversary banquet of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association, Harrison added that "there is no reason why the treasury cannot re-finance the $700,000,000 bonus bill out of the annual surplus."

"If the president vetoes the bonus measure, congress will override his veto," he said. "The treasury has built up a surplus in excess of the sinking fund of more than $600,000,000 in one year. And while the bonus bill, if it passes, will call for some refinancing by the federal government, it can be done with the aid of this surplus."

The senator criticized the administration for its policies of relief work in drought stricken areas.

"Had I been functioning in an executive capacity, I should have favored relief action by the federal government, rather than delegating it to an outside agency," he said.

Bakes afforded central western states additional drought relief today. More moisture later in the week was predicted by the weather bureau.

Senate Passes Resolution Asking Congress to Pass Shipstead-Mansfield Bill

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(UP)—A resolution memorializing congress to pass the Shipstead-Mansfield bill providing $500,000,000 for consideration of the upper Mississippi 9-foot channel and the St. Lawrence waterways and other pending rivers and harbors work was passed by the Minnesota senate today. The vote was 55 to 1.

A bill providing $2,500,000 for a state fair building program was returned.

to the senate by the agriculture committee without recommendation for passage. The committee asked that it be referred to the committee on state and county fairs.

Sen. Walter P. Wolfe, Minneapolis, introduced a bill which would prohibit municipalities from setting minimum taxi fare rates.

The house committee on agriculture today recommended for passage a bill appropriating $40,000 for a new field house at University Farm.

The bill now goes to the appropriations committee. The committee also recommended for passage a concurrent resolution memorializing congress to pass the Frazier bill, providing that the government issue bonds to help refinance farm indebtedness at lower interest rates.

"FOREST LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Nancy Hollenbeck, young, vibrant and beautiful, reluctantly drops her latest beau, Mat Tully, when her mother warns her against marrying a poor man "as she did." At the rich Craigs' house party, Nancy receives the attentions of Jack Beamer, handsome sportsman, unhappily married.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VII.

"DON'T care if it is true; you spoiled my whole Summer. And then I met Mat Tully, the only wonderful fellow I ever met in my whole life!" "You can't say I knocked him!" "No, you pounced on him and dragged him right into the limelight so mama would start prying and poking the way she does, showing me that he wasn't really anybody and—"

"You mean you're giving him up because mama TOLD you to?" Louise couldn't believe it. Her lip curled scornfully. "I'd like to see the family stop me if I ever fell in love!"

"But you're not like me." Nancy was crying in earnest now. "You don't mind washing dishes, and having your shoes re-soled—"

"No, of course not. I LOVE it!" "And I can't stand it. I wouldn't do it. Not for any man. I'm not going to let life get me that way. I've got to have nice things or I can't be happy. Don't you see? When I marry I've got to . . . got to get somebody who can give me things. I've just got to. You don't have to look at me like that. I'm not any worse than lots of others. I'm more honest, that's all. I know what I want. Look how pretty mama was in that wedding picture. She married for love, and she's been left out of everything, and never had any fun. YOU can if you want to. But I won't—not me!"

Somebody stirred in the next room. Squeaking of springs. The floor creaking.

"Shh, you'll wake the whole house," Louise warned. "I can hear somebody now. Besides you'll make yourself sick crying like that. And you haven't told me what made you cry in the first place. It must have been something that Jack Beamer—"

A Real Man

"No, it wasn't. He's a peach, really he is. It's a relief to meet a real honest to goodness man that knows what he wants, and isn't afraid . . . of anything. I don't know why I slopped over . . . just everything, I guess."

"Well, don't think about it any more now. It's almost morning. I was a pig to keep you talking so long." Louise's protecting arm settled around her little sister. The gay, luxury loving little sister who talked so cynically, and really didn't mean a word of it . . . how could she? "Poor dear, chattering about love when she's never been touched by it, when she doesn't even know what it feels like to . . . to care awfully for someone!"

Nancy snuggled closer in the protecting arms. "Good old Lou," she thought, with a sudden rush of pity and affection. "How little she knows! I'm the only practical one in the family. Papa worries, and mama thinks she can make everything lovely by saying it is, and Lou fusses over the bills and harps about people only asking us places because mama was a Peabees and they think they have to, but I'm the only one with sense enough to plan . . ."

Ding, ding, ding, ding. The clock downstairs striking four. Four party.

o'clock. She MUST get to sleep, she'd look a fright in the morning.

With a soft little sigh, like the breath of a tired kitten, she burrowed under the covers again, nestling close to Lou. Good old Lou, whom she might be able to do a lot for, some day, not too far away.

They were both a little self-conscious in the morning. A little uneasy about the revelations of the night before.

"My Lord, I just shut my eyes." Nancy yawned when the breakfast bell finally roused her. But she hurried, and was downstairs in time to have her fruit with the others, for there was no point in being late, and calling attention to the tardiness of last night.

"Morning!" she beamed at everybody, with a quick look to see if Beamer was there. He was.

"I've got to have nice things or I can't be happy," said Nancy.

Immaculate and amazingly handsome in the riding clothes that accentuated his broad-shouldered fitness.

But Mat was gone. "Got up with the birdies, to go hiking or some other darn thing," his roommate, Frank Haworth, was complaining when Mrs. Craig, oozing importance from every pore, sailed in with a yellow envelope in her hand.

"It's a wire from Kitty Hollenbeck," she said, crumpling the slip paper in her hands. "The girls will have to go right back to day. It's too bad, but there isn't any time to lose. I've just sent the maid up to start packing, while you have breakfast. . . May Belle, you MUST not drink so much coffee!"

"But—is mama sick?" Nancy faltered.

Mrs. Craig shook her raspberry-tinted head vigorously. "No indeed. She'll explain when you get home, dear. Now you WILL have hurry if you're to make that train!"

URGES ADVERTISING OF FARM PRODUCTS

Butter, Eggs, Poultry, Etc., of Good Quality, Grade Listed by John Brandt

SPEAKS AT CREAMERY MEETING

Proper Advertising Required to Balance Distribution Throughout Country

Advertising on a large scale on butter, eggs, poultry and other farm products of good quality and grade was urged by John Brandt, president of the Land O' Lakes Creamery Association, as a means for return of better times to farmers in the year 1931, at the meeting of the Farmers Cooperative Creamery Association in the Farmers' Room, Court House, this afternoon.

He told the packed assemblage that the reason other products enjoyed a fairly successful year in the face of depression was because of attractive advertising conducted by them.

During the year 1930 $7 per capita was expended for butter in the United States, while $9 was expended per capita for lip sticks and cosmetics. Proper advertising of merchandise will do a great part in returning to balance distribution throughout the country. The speaker favored expenditure of money where it would create the greatest amount of wealth, to bring about increased prosperity. He decried the hoarding of money in the face of depression, blaming such as the reason for poor times. Group bargaining will be a great asset in equalizing wealth, he said.

Mr. Brandt emphatically stated that farm products other than milk and cream should be handled on a market basis from a cooperative creamery. He said that only on this basis can eggs and poultry be properly graded and could elevate the prices asked for the same. He suggested that the Farmers Cooperative enter the field in manufacturing ice cream.

The speaker was also in favor of establishing a tariff on coconut oil, claiming that this can only be done through a cooperative measure of farmers throughout the country. He blamed the low sales of butter to the influx of coconut oil to aid in the manufacture of oleomargarine.

Returning to advertising, he stated that $72,000,000 was expended in advertising cigarettes last year and that from an advertising standpoint the cigarette manufacturers did a very good job of it. "You will never get anywhere" he told the farmers "unless you educate yourself to business principles as conducted in these times." He praised the local creamery and stated that without competition, prices paid farmers would drop.

Several hundred farmers were in attendance at the meeting today. It opened with the acceptance of the auditor's report for the past year, and the treasurer's report was read by August Nelson, and accepted.

Balloting on election of officers started at 3:30 p. m. At 11:30 a. m. a luncheon was served to all visitors.

HOUSE PASSES THE VETERANS LOAN BILL

the banking and currency subcommittee investigating federal reserve and other banking practices.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, discussed the legislative situation with President Hoover in an early call at the White House today.

He said afterward that polls showed the administration would lack two votes of the number necessary in the senate to sustain a possible veto of the veterans' loan bill.

Moses added he thought all appropriation bills would be passed by March 4 and an extra session avoided.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—A prediction that the soldier's bonus bill will be passed by both houses of congress even if it is vetoed by President Hoover, was made by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi in an address before 2,300 Chicago coal dealers and their guests.

Speaking at the 25th anniversary banquet of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association, Harrison added that "there is no reason why the treasury cannot re-finance the $700,000,000 bonus bill out of the annual surplus."

"If the president vetoes the bonus measure, congress will override his veto," he said. "The treasury has built up a surplus in excess of the sinking fund of more than $600,000,000 in one year. And while the bonus bill, if it passes, will call for some refinancing by the federal government, it can be done with the aid of this surplus."

The senator criticized the administration for its policies of relief work in drought stricken areas.

"Had I been functioning in an executive capacity, I should have favored relief action by the federal government, rather than delegating it to an outside agency," he said.

Bakes afforded central western states additional drought relief today. More moisture later in the week was predicted by the weather bureau.

The Public Enemy Today

THE BRAINERD DISPATCH has been asked to publish an editorial from the Evening World of New York, entitled, "The Public Enemy of Today":

There are far too many people, from business men to laborers, who are giving too eager ear to wild rumors and spiteful gossip tending to destroy confidence and create an atmosphere of general distrust.

The victims of vague fear, on the street and in the market place, are a menace to the community.

These are the defeatists that hold back the return of that prosperity that cannot but come from the limitless resources of the nation.

They are the terrorists that drive the dollar into hiding when it ought to be at work making jobs for the unemployed.

They are the scarecrows of imaginary disasters, the spreaders of rumors having no basis in reality—the carriers of lies.

They are the feeders of that mob psychology which creates the spirit of panic.

They blind the thoughtless to the very evident soundness of our great business enterprises.

It is the pessimists among business men, who lack the red blood of courage, and who are mentally sick with vain imaginings who are responsible for the gloom among the less informed.

The most serious threat to our country today is in the business man of little faith, whose fears are played upon by the most silly gossip which poisons the air with absurd rumors and mean and malicious lies.

These are the public enemies, and in the days of war they would be so proclaimed, and in any crisis they are worse than a nuisance—they are a menace.

It is not like Americans to shudder at shadows, or to surrender to fear. The courage, faith, determination, grit and confidence that have made them incomparable on the battlefield have never been more needed than they are today.

But we have permitted the croakers and the irresponsible gossips to charge the air with the poison of falsehoods and baseless rumors, and the air must be purged of the poison. A truce, then, to the gossips and the mean inventors of wild rumors, for these are the public enemies, whether they operate in the pool rooms or in the most exclusive clubs.

America is all right if Americans are not all wrong. But the weak, the timid, or the malicious croaker of disaster must be made to understand by the way in which his story is received that he is engaged in rather disreputable business.

This breed of mischief-makers is not unknown to our experiences before. We had them in 1873 when they assured us that railroad building had wrecked the country, that vast sections the roads had tapped would have to be given back to the wilderness again.

We had them in the depression of 1893 when they told us that we had exhausted our markets and thereafter would decline in prosperity and trade.

And America moved on each time to greater heights and more abundant prosperity than it had ever known before.

American Courage, American Calmness, American Steadiness, American Grit, American Common Sense, and the co-operation of all classes of the people in creating an atmosphere of confidence and faith will hasten the day of the restoration of prosperity.

Brainerd as an Egg Market

In a general way Brainerd is a fairly good egg market with prices very little under the market prices of large cities. If no eggs from outside local territory are shipped or trucked in, Brainerd territory is large enough to supply all eggs required in the city. In other words, the home market will take care of home production if no outside eggs are brought in.

Unless home area eggs are graded and marked, it is difficult to identify them from others shipped in.

John Brandt, Minneapolis, president of the Land O' Lakes Creameries Association, spoke today at the annual meeting of the Farmers Co-operative Creamery Association at the Farmers room in the court house and his topic, "Egg and Poultry Marketing in Connection with Creameries," gave much valuable information.

Lake Levels Measure

AFTER the Twin Cities had harped on the issue of river navigation for months, claiming lake water was required until the river nine foot channel was assured, one now reads that the claim is made that adoption of the Knutson bill will endanger the water supplies of Minneapolis and St. Paul and also complicate the problem of sewage disposal.

The revised regulations as approved by the Secretary of War are favored because more discretion is allowed the federal engineers in handling the supply than under the terms of the Knutson bill, according to St. Paul's chief city engineer.

STIRRED by the report that pansies had been picked near Crow Wing, residents of Daggett Brook today sent the Brainerd Dispatch budding lilacs to prove that spring is on its way all through the county. The lilacs came from the farm of H. E. Row-sam, and were delivered by special messenger.

FRIENDS of a bonus for the Spanish war veterans are sending telegrams to Representative A. M. Opsahl, one of a committee of the house considering the bonus, urging favorable consideration of the measure.

BUSINESS prospects in Brainerd are good. The garment factory anticipates one of the best years in its history. Work in other industrial lines is picking up too.

THE average humorous periodical of the universities always treats the liquor question with levity.

At the University of South Dakota six co-eds have joined the ranks of soda dispensers.

As Lincoln has well stated, respect for the law is the foundation stone of the republic.

NINE CONTESTANTS IN HUMOROUS, DRAMATIC AND RHETORICAL DIVISIONS

For the second time in the history of the new school the local declamation contests will be given. Next Monday evening, February 23 at 8 o'clock in the auditorium, nine contestants will appear. Last year the contestants spoke to a full house and were very much enjoyed by the audience. This year the contest tends to be just as interesting and it is hoped that a large crowd will attend.

The contest will be judged by ten local men and women, all of whom are experienced in dramatics and public speaking. They include Mrs. C. L. Burnett, Miss Malena Vansack, Miss Alta Franklin, Mrs. Effie Wareing, Mrs. W. C. Cobb, Mrs. L. Knudsen, Miss Dorothy Dunn, Rev. J. R. Michelson, Rev. N. P. Olmsted and Rev. C. M. Brandon.

As usual, the contest will be divided into sections consisting of oratory for boys; dramatics for girls and humorous for either boys or girls. These people who have been coached by Miss Oertling will render the following selections: the oratory, Stuart Patterson will deliver "Something Lost"; Marion Newman, "The Game"; Carl Holvik, "Hickory Stumps." In dramatics Bernice Stienfeldt will present "Humoresque" and Genevieve Peters, "The Great Heart." In the humorous division Irja Huhtala will give "Station Blow" and Clara Gendron, "Part Panther."

Four of these six students who have been coached by Miss Clausen will be eliminated some time this week and the two who are left will also appear Monday evening: Lela Schöbe will give "Pro Patria," Marjorie Forsberg, "In the Rose Garden," Mildred E. Johnson will give "Engineer Conner's Son." In humorous: Elaine Cook, "When Daddy Dresses the Baby," Ruth Seifert in "When Daddy Dressed the Baby," Elizabeth Irvine, "Brotherly Love."

It is hoped that everyone who is interested in advancing the work in declamation, which is free for the evening, will be there.

It's bigger and it's better—the new 1931 Annual!

COMING OR GOING WE CATCH 'EM

Miss Herwig, principal of Zumbrota high school, and formerly teacher of Economics and Brainerdian staff adviser visited with Miss Stickney and Miss Tornstrom. A party was given in Miss Herwig's honor by the Brainerdian staff in the school cafeteria Friday evening.

Joyce Smith, Marie Thoe, Frances Peterson and Hildegarde Holm witnessed the Bemidji-Brainerd basketball game at Bemidji Friday night. They returned to Brainerd on the Saturday morning train.

Dick Rice and Allan McKay, after attending the basketball game at Bemidji Friday night, left for Minneapolis and then returned to Brainerd Saturday night.

Lucille Caulfield, Violet Ritari and Kathryn Smith attended the Bemidji game.

PAT'S PATTERN

Discourse of a Statue
Mercy! When will the janitor ever come. It's getting colder and colder sitting here barefooted. Why can't they have night school here to keep me company? That is not the thing, they at least might put more clothes on me. Anyway, they they were thoughtful enough to let me sit down.

Oh—here comes the janitor at last. He must be happy; he's smiling so pleasantly to himself. It's really too early to smile and I don't think he should when I can't. But isn't it always the way? Here I sit forever watching people do things. At least I remember days when I was being made and sent places; then I saw plenty of life and excitement.

That's better; I should think my toes would get red from the cold, but they never do. It's warmer now. Here comes Miss Tornstrom. She's earlier than usual and smiling! Why, it's contagious. I almost feel like it when I look at her poor little red nose. At least I never have colds.

Wonder if that white, shiny stuff causes it? They always seem to get rid of it as soon as they reach the door. Here comes the rest of the teachers. What are they saying? Friday the thirteenth, a good day for tests. Why that's what I hear the students lamenting—tests. Well, they mean nothing to me. My body's all been tested and I seem to stand the strain sitting.

Here comes the first bustling pupils. Bet they're the ones who get the A's they all seem to crave 'cause they look so happy. What's that I heard Jean Cass say? She forgot her rubbers? That's the first thing I ever heard of her forgetting.

Wish I could stand on the other stairs and perceive what manner of human species perambulates that section of the institution. (There, that's what this school does to me; I can't even understand my own language.)

They're coming fast now. Let's see, there comes Gerry Cass. Early for him; but his sister and he seem in a slight scrap. Atta girl, Anna, of course he did! I don't know what he could have done but sisters are always right. I almost wish I were one. I'd like to have someone to talk back to.

Only the stragglers are coming now. Here comes Dorothy Kinney—in a hurry as usual and talking about "Yeah, I flunked flatter'n a pancake, but just wait, better times are coming!" Optimist, all right, wish I could be that way.

All gone! Well, I'll see them soon when they go to lunch. Guess I'll take a nap in the meantime. It's so cozy and warm—

Huh? Why it's evening already. I've slept all day. The students are leaving. There's Ted Franks and Murrell Goedderz walking so shyly together. Gee, they're quiet, but they say "silence is golden." That's what I heard Mr. Ford say when the lead plates on his shoes began to squeak.

Well, I'm left alone with my thoughts. Goodness, that Zebulon Pike in the library is excited over something. Bet he found a stray footprint on that picture of his. He doesn't interest me though, so I guess I'll sleep again. Sleep, sleep, that's all I can do. Old age is creeping on. What if I should fall off of here in my sleep? I'd break into a thousand pieces and the class of 1929 would have no memorial here. Maybe, I'd better sleep less often. Well, I'll start after this time—
—Z-Z-ZZZZZZ (snore, snore.)

The school is in possession of a wall plaque of mahogany and bronze, presented by the class of 1930. On the plaque are to be inscribed the names of illustrious Seniors past, present and to be. It will hang in the assembly room as an inspiration for the students to so labor and conduct themselves that they, too, may be entered in the Hall of Fame.

WARRIORS DEFEAT BEMIDJI QUINTET

HOME TEAM CARRIES BACK THE LONG END OF 28-24 COUNT

Coach Dammann's Warriors pushed north last Friday, invaded Bemidji and returned bearing with them a well earned victory. Facing a strong Bemidji quint on their own floor they came out on the long end of a 28-24 count.

Captain Nate Schuety, back again in the Warriors ranks after a long siege with his ankle, led his men in a crashing attack in the opening minutes of the game, setting them well in the lead. The Bemidji quint came back in the third period with a powerful blood-thirsty rally but fell victims to the tight Brainerd defense.

Big Jerry Wygle led the Warriors in scoring. He succeeded in shipping in five field goals. Vipond, fast Bemidji forward, was high point man in the opposing ranks.

The Brainerd boys held a 21-10 point lead at the end of the first half, but Bemidji came back in the third period to lead by a 23-22 count. The Warriors put in a nice field goal to set them one point in the lead. Slipping into an effective stalling game the Warriors snatched the game from the frantic Bemidji five and their ardent fans. The line-ups were:

Brainerd—Foster, f; B. Wygle, f; J. Wygle, c; Marshall, g; Schuety, g; Larson, f; Templeton, f; Patterson, c. Bemidji—Krause, f; Vipond, f; Johnson, c; Connelly, g; LaFleur, g; Clausen, f; Stephen, f; M. Connelly, c.

STAFF FROLICS AS FORMER ADVISER RETURNS TO VISIT

MISS HERWIG DINED BY STAFF AT VALENTINE PARTY

Once again the Brainerdian staff assembled to partake of food and merry-making along with the one-time Brainerdian adviser, Miss Aletha Herwig, who came all the way from Zumbrota, Minnesota to honor and distinguish the party with her presence and make the occasion even more joyous and merry.

Thus, Friday, 20 staff members with Miss Herwig, Miss Tornstrom and Mr. and Mrs. Penrose assembled in the beautifully decorated cafeteria at an informal dinner of salmon croquettes (ala Miss Tornstrom), mashed potatoes, buttered peas, red candied apple salad, ice cream sundaes, talking and "wise cracking."

Various sized hearts to represent the various peoples, decorated the tables at different positions, while paper, lace doilies under the plates and glass- es made the eating much more festive. Dressed up candy sticks with pliant faces adorned each plate and decorated napkins completed the decorations so artistically made by the editor-in-chief.

After everyone had replenished themselves sufficiently, the underclassmen called upon by the toastmistress, Janet Kampmann, expressing their ideas concerning the staff and their work. As they were very modest, they gave but a few words, extraordinarily like those of the preceding speaker until Miss Tornstrom was prompted to say "Next time be original and just say 'ditto.'" Then the main speaker, Miss Herwig, told of her work on the "Zumbrota" in Zumbrota in the usual humorous and entertaining manner.

After a few reminiscences of "Old Brainerdian Days," the tables were cleared and dishes washed (by the boys). The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games and chewing up the prettily dressed favors. There was, too, lots of talk and laughter, the staff thoroughly appreciating Miss Herwig's presence and keenness.

How about that 1931 Annual?

AUDIENCE IS TERROR-STRICKEN BY ANTICS OF THE TIGER-MAN IN JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

EIGHTH GRADE NOTES

The eighth grade composition classes celebrated Lincoln's birthday by telling Lincoln anecdotes. From these stories we are more able to fully appreciate Lincoln's quick wit, keen sense of humor and human sympathy.

A number of students have made attractive Lincoln booklets. Extra credit was earned for their work.

An interesting surprise contest was conducted in the eighth grade History classes. The pictures of 24 world notables were on display in Miss Marshall's room for one week. Friday a recognition test was given. Robert Cohen and Jack Temple received a perfect score in the test while Edward Hicks and Helen Lucas had them all right but one.

An interesting report on the life of Abraham Lincoln was made by Elsie Lukenbach in the A History class.
Want Ad Column:
1. By Miss Marshall a more wide awake AII class.
2. By Howard Peterson more time to sleep.
3. By the AII class a plug for the leak in the gas tank for our airplanes so we can win the History contest.
4. By Miss Campbell something to awaken the AII class.
5. By James Cunningham a greased hall for sliding.
6. By Miss Justin no more blue Mondays.
7. By Mrs. Fleming better behaved boys in the AII class.
8. By Elaine Tracy longer sewing periods.
9. By Gladys Anderson fewer clauses in grammar tests.
10. By all of us refreshments between classes.
11. By Miss Campbell a little work from Stuart J.

EXCHANGE

For those who may be interested in looking over our exchange, a section near the left of Miss Corfield's desk in the library has been set aside for that purpose.

At the Bemidji high school the students indulge in sunlight dances held every third Friday at 3:45 in their gym. The students dance to the music of the high school radio.

The Tech high school paper, St. Cloud, had a very clever feature on their aggregation of nationalities. It said "Heinz 57" has nothing on Tech when it comes to variety. We might well say something to this effect!

By the Crohnite we understand they intend to win from us when they play here February 27. Will they?

Declaration Blues
I'm going to enter the contest, I don't know the reason I do; I know I'll be scared For them I've never cared, But each year I'm in it anew.

I know there is no use to enter But somehow I just can't stay out; Some day I may learn Those contests to spurn, And this learned I'll give a great shout.

And you, who must read these poor verses, You'll pray for me please, loud and long, I fear it's no use, I just can't cut loose, Less helped by some prayer good and strong.

—Star of the North, Virginia, Minn.
The Seniors of Cloquet high school have selected for their class play this year "Little Old New York." We wish them much success.

Trials and Tribulations
Getting out a paper is no picnic. If we print jokes, folks say we are silly— If we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we print scandal, we are said to be light headed— If we don't our paper is dumb. If we publish original matter, they say we lack variety— If we publish things from other papers we are too lazy to write them ourselves.

If we stay on the job, we ought to be rustling news— If we are rustling news, we are not attending to our own department. If we don't print contributions, we don't show the proper appreciation— If we do print them, somebody calls it bunk.

Like as not someone will say we swiped this from another paper. So we did. It expresses our sentiments. —Fairmont Echo, Fairmont H. S.

ENTIRE CAST CARRIES PARTS WITH REMARKABLE EASE

"Tiger House," the Junior class play put on for a large appreciative audience Monday evening in the high school auditorium, was pronounced a huge success.

A net profit of about $210 was gained for the Junior class with which they will be able to put on the Junior-Senior Prom in the spring and finance the class through the remainder of the year.

At the matinee for grade children 450 tickets were sold. In the evening the cast performed to an approximate audience of 800 people.

The play itself was a mystery centered around a necklace stolen by Emma Lowrie's aunt from a tiger worshipped by a tribe of Africans.

The heroine, Erma Lowrie, was to stay in Mystery Manor for a certain length of time in order to inherit the fortune of her deceased aunt, and during this time the gruesome things begin to happen. Oswald, a bug collector, Peg Van Ess, a flapper, and Aunt Sophia with her large upper plate, furnish the needed comical break to the mysterious tension pervading the whole play. This was caused by the doings of Arthur, also a relation to Erma who is found to be jewel mad and, in the end, to be the Tiger Man and, with his accomplice, Thompson, who passed as an animal trainer, searching for an escaped tiger, attempt to frighten Erma by making the weird stories in connection with the place come true. Shining green eyes, lighted lamps and many other grotesque and terrifying tricks of their own concoction are used. The Mystery woman, Arthur's wife, almost spoiled their plans, necessitating several attempts on her life. Macintosh, the hero and sweetheart of Erma, comes disguised as a boatman to help Erma. He is the detective who catches the crooks. Yami, an African priest, comes in search of the necklace as a Hindu crystal gazer. Mrs. Murdock, the old housekeeper, looks after the interests of Erma and her guests.

The play finished in a very grand manner with the finding of the secret room back of the fireplace and the discovery of the necklace under Yami's crystal. Of course, Erma and Macintosh were united as the curtain descended in a manner professional enough to satisfy the most critical audience.

The Junior Class sincerely thanks the Patk Furniture Co., O'Brien Mercantile Co., J. C. Penney Co. and Peterson Clothing Co. for the costumes and furniture loaned them in such a gracious manner.

The cast was:
Erma Lowrie—Dorothy Kinney.
Yami, a Hindu—John Folsom.
Aunt Sophia—Esther Kukkola.
Mrs. Murdock—Louise Klusman.
Mr. Macintosh—Joseph Marchel.
Arthur Hale—LeRoy Peterson.
Oswald—Gerald Hall.
Peg Van Ess—Frances Reese.
Thompson—Bernard Lind.
The "Mystery Woman"—Marjorie Forsberg.

Those who helped were:
Business Manager—Anna Cass.
Stage Manager—Robert Crust.
Assistant Stage Manager—Parker Campbell.
Stage Craftsman—Mr. Rosel.
Lights—Mr. Penrose.
General Assistant—Mr. Ford.
Directors—Miss O'Brien and Miss Clausen.

Alumnus Plays Violin In Assembly Program

Mr. Dammann, the announcer "program," heralded the short program and skits at the assembly call, Friday, with the usual announcements first.

The program opened with two beautiful compositions, "Spanish Dance" and "Moonlight and Roses" by the alumnus, Victor Bourgeois. The selections with the accompaniment of Miss Rickard were very well given and received.

After this bit o' melody, out went the lights and a most spooky unknown voice foretold the appearance of a few skits from "Tiger House." After a short lapse of time several disguised people appeared in the characters of heroine, hero, maiden aunt, bug collector, desperado, dude, mystery woman, servant, and last, but not least, a modern young flapper.

As an advertisement, the skits were good, and as a show, it was great.

Dancing formed the main feature at the joint party of the Hi-Yers chapters I and II and their girl friends, in the social club rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. Music in the form of a combination phonograph and radio set was enjoyed during the evening through the courtesy of the Everson Music Co.

Despite the large crowd of Hi-Yers who attended the game, an atmosphere of fellowship prevailed the entire evening. At a late hour a delicious luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. R. Penrose, the former a faculty advisor of the Hi-Y, acted as chaperones for the evening.

The Public Enemy Today

THE BRAINERD DISPATCH has been asked to publish an editorial from the Evening World of New York, entitled, "The Public Enemy of Today":

There are far too many people, from business men to laborers, who are giving too eager ear to wild rumors and spiteful gossip tending to destroy confidence and create an atmosphere of general distrust.

The victims of vague fear, on the street and in the market place, are a menace to the community.

These are the defeatists that hold back the return of that prosperity that cannot but come from the limitless resources of the nation.

They are the terrorists that drive the dollar into hiding when it ought to be at work making jobs for the unemployed.

They are the scarecrows of imaginary disasters, the spreaders of rumors having no basis in reality—the carriers of lies.

They are the feeders of that mob psychology which creates the spirit of panic.

They blind the thoughtless to the very evident soundness of our great business enterprises.

It is the pessimists among business men, who lack the red blood of courage, and who are mentally sick with vain imaginings who are responsible for the gloom among the less informed.

The most serious threat to our country today is in the business man of little faith, whose fears are played upon by the most silly gossip which poisons the air with absurd rumors and mean and malicious lies.

These are the public enemies, and in the days of war they would be so proclaimed, and in any crisis they are worse than a nuisance—they are a menace.

It is not like Americans to shudder at shadows, or to surrender to fear. The courage, faith, determination, grit and confidence that have made them incomparable on the battlefield have never been more needed than they are today.

But we have permitted the croakers and the irresponsible gossips to charge the air with the poison of falsehoods and baseless rumors, and the air must be purged of the poison. A truce, then, to the gossips and the mean inventors of wild rumors, for these are the public enemies, whether they operate in the pool rooms or in the most exclusive clubs.

America is all right if Americans are not all wrong. But the weak, the timid, or the malicious croaker of disaster must be made to understand by the way in which his story is received that he is engaged in rather disreputable business.

This breed of mischief-makers is not unknown to our experiences before. We had them in 1873 when they assured us that railroad building had wrecked the country, that vast sections the roads had tapped would have to be given back to the wilderness again.

We had them in the depression of 1893 when they told us that we had exhausted our markets and thereafter would decline in prosperity and trade.

And America moved on each time to greater heights and more abundant prosperity than it had ever known before.

American Courage, American Calmness, American Steadiness, American Grit, American Common Sense, and the co-operation of all classes of the people in creating an atmosphere of confidence and faith will hasten the day of the restoration of prosperity.

Brainerd as an Egg Market

In a general way Brainerd is a fairly good egg market with prices very little under the market prices of large cities. If no eggs from outside local territory are shipped or trucked in, Brainerd territory is large enough to supply all eggs required in the city. In other words, the home market will take care of home production if no outside eggs are brought in.

Unless home area eggs are graded and marked, it is difficult to identify them from others shipped in.

John Brandt, Minneapolis, president of the Land O' Lakes Creameries Association, spoke today at the annual meeting of the Farmers Co-operative Creamery Association at the Farmers room in the court house and his topic, "Egg and Poultry Marketing in Connection with Creameries," gave much valuable information.

Lake Levels Measure

AFTER the Twin Cities had harped on the issue of river navigation for months, claiming lake water was required until the river nine foot channel was assured, one now reads that the claim is made that adoption of the Knutson bill will endanger the water supplies of Minneapolis and St. Paul and also complicate the problem of sewage disposal.

The revised regulations as approved by the Secretary of War are favored because more discretion is allowed the federal engineers in handling the supply than under the terms of the Knutson bill, according to St. Paul's chief city engineer.

STIRRED by the report that pansies had been picked near Crow Wing, residents of Daggett Brook today sent the Brainerd Dispatch budding lilacs to prove that spring is on its way all through the county. The lilacs came from the farm of H. E. Row-sam, and were delivered by special messenger.

FRIENDS of a bonus for the Spanish war veterans are sending telegrams to Representative A. M. Opsahl, one of a committee of the house considering the bonus, urging favorable consideration of the measure.

BUSINESS prospects in Brainerd are good. The garment factory anticipates one of the best years in its history. Work in other industrial lines is picking up too.

THE average humorous periodical of the universities always treats the liquor question with levity.

At the University of South Dakota six co-eds have joined the ranks of soda dispensers.

As Lincoln has well stated, respect for the law is the foundation stone of the republic.

COACHES SCHEDULE LOCAL TRYOUTS FOR DECLAMATION CONTEST FEB. 23

NINE CONTESTANTS IN HUMOROUS, DRAMATIC AND RHETORICAL DIVISIONS

For the second time in the history of the new school the local declamation contests will be given. Next Monday evening, February 23 at 8 o'clock in the auditorium, nine contestants will appear. Last year the contestants spoke to a full house and were very much enjoyed by the audience. This year the contest tends to be just as interesting and it is hoped that a large crowd will attend.

The contest will be judged by ten local men and women, all of whom are experienced in dramatics and public speaking. They include Mrs. C. L. Burnett, Miss Malena Vanasek, Miss Alta Franklin, Mrs. Effie Wareing, Mrs. W. C. Cobb, Mrs. L. Knudsen, Miss Dorothy Dunn, Rev. J. R. Michaelson, Rev. N. P. Olmsted and Rev. C. M. Brandon.

As usual, the contest will be divided into sections consisting of oratory for boys; dramatics for girls and humorous for either boys or girls. These people who have been coached by Miss Oerting will render the following selections: the oratory, Stuart Patterson will deliver "Something Lost"; Marion Newman, "The Game"; Carl Hol-vick, "Hickory Stumps." In dramatics, Bernice Stiefeldt will present "Humoresque"; Genevieve Peters, "The Great Heart." In the humorous division Irja Huhtala will give "Station Blow" and Clara Gendron, "Part Panther."

Four of these six students who have been coached by Miss Clausen will be eliminated some time this week and the two who are left will also appear Monday evening: Lela Schobe will give "Pro Patria"; Marjorie Forsberg, "In the Rose Garden"; Mildred E. Johnson will give "Engineer Conner's Son." In humorous: Elaine Cook, "When Daddy Dresses the Baby"; Ruth Seifert in "When Daddy Dresses the Baby"; Elizabeth Irvine, "Brotherly Love."

It is hoped that everyone who is interested in advancing the work in declamation, which is free for the evening, will be there.

It's bigger and it's better—the new 1931 Annual!

COMING OR GOING WE CATCH 'EM

Miss Herwig, principal of Zumbrota high school, and formerly teacher of Economics and Brainonian staff adviser visited with Miss Stieckney and Miss Tornstrom. A party was given in Miss Herwig's honor by the Brainonian staff in the school cafeteria Friday evening.

Joyce Smith, Marie Thoe, Frances Peterson and Hildegard Holm witnessed the Bemidji-Brainerd basketball game at Bemidji Friday night. They returned to Brainerd on the Saturday morning train.

Dick Rice and Allan McKay, after attending the basketball game at Bemidji Friday night, left for Minneapolis and then returned to Brainerd Saturday night.

Louella Caulfield, Violet Ritari and Kathryn Smith attended the Bemidji game.

YE EDITOR

Last week the staff had the pleasure of seeing again their former advisor, Miss Aletha Herwig, who is now principal of Zumbrota high school, and advisor of their paper the Zumbrota. Everyone was very glad to see her again as she was the cause of many of the present staff member's interest in the newspaper work.

Although she feigned loneliness for Brainerd, Miss Herwig seems very well satisfied with her people in Zumbrota, and has promoted a great deal of interest in the school paper there. Her compliments on the ability and personality of her present editor and on the cheerful cooperation of the staff made her audience quite determined that they too, would labor and get their material in on time as to merit such praise for their efforts. She lamented the fact that the Zumbrota was seldom a five column paper and congratulated the staff on their consistently good work for the Brainonian.

STAFF FROLICS AS FORMER ADVISER RETURNS TO VISIT

Once again the Brainonian staff assembled to partake of food and merry-making along with the one-time Brainonian adviser, Miss Aletha Herwig, who came all the way from Zumbrota, Minnesota to honor and distinguish the party with her presence and make the occasion even more joyous and merry.

Thus, Friday, 20 staff members with Miss Herwig, Miss Tornstrom and Mr. and Mrs. Penrose assembled in the beautifully decorated cafeteria at an informal dinner of salmon croquettes (ala Miss Tornstrom), mashed potatoes, buttered peas, red candied apple salad, ice cream sundaes, talking and "wise cracking."

Various sized hearts to represent the various peoples, decorated the tables at different positions, while paper, lace doilies under the plates and glasses made the eating much more festive. Dressed up candy sticks with piquant faces adorned each plate and decorated napkins completed the decorations so artistically made by the editor-in-chief.

After everyone had replenished themselves sufficiently, the underclassmen called upon by the toastmistress, Janet Kampmann, expressing their ideas concerning the staff and their work. As they were very modest, they gave but a few words, extraordinarily like those of the preceding speaker until Miss Tornstrom was prompted to say "Next time be original and just say 'ditto'." Then the main speaker, Miss Herwig, told of her work on the "Zumbrota" in Zumbrota in the usual humorous and entertaining manner.

After a few reminiscences of "Old Brainonian Days," the tables were cleared and dishes washed (by the boys).

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games and chewing up the prettily dressed favors. There was, too, lots of talk and laughter, the staff thoroughly appreciating Miss Herwig's presence and keenness.

WARRIORS DEFEAT BEMIDJI QUINTET

The Seniors of Cloquet high school have selected for their class play this year "Little Old New York." We wish them much success.

Trials and Tribulations
Getting out a paper is no picnic. If we print jokes, folks say we are silly. If we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we print scandal, we are said to be light headed.
If we don't our paper is dumb.
If we publish original matter, they say we lack variety.
If we publish things from other papers we are too lazy to write them ourselves.

If we stay on the job, we ought to be rustling news.
If we are rustling news, we are not attending to our own department.
If we don't print contributions, we don't show the proper appreciation.
If we do print them, somebody calls it bunk.

Like as not someone will say we swiped this from another paper. So we did. It expresses our sentiments.

HOME TEAM CARRIES BACK THE LONG END OF 23-21 COUNT

Captain Nate Schuety, back again in the Warrior ranks after a long siege with his ankle, led his men in a crashing attack in the opening minutes of the game, setting them well in the lead. The Bemidji quint came back in the third period with a powerful blood-thirsty rally but fell victims to the tight Brainerd defense.

Big Jerry Wygle led the Warriors in scoring. He succeeded in slipping in five field goals. Vipond, fast Bemidji forward, was high point man in the opposing ranks.

The Brainerd boys held a 21-10 point lead at the end of the first half, but Bemidji came back in the third period to lead by a 23-22 count. The Warriors put in a nice field goal to set them one point in the lead. Slipping into an effective stalling game the Warriors snatched the game from the frantic Bemidji five and their ardent fans. The line-ups were:

Brainerd—Foster, f; B. Wygle, f; J. Wygle, c; Marshall, g; Schuety, g; Larson, f; Templeton, f; Patterson, c. Bemidji—Krause, f; Vipond, f; Johnson, c; Connelly, g; LaFleur, g; Clausen, f; Stephen, f; M. Connelly, c.

AUDIENCE IS TERROR-STRICKEN BY ANTICS OF THE TIGER-MAN IN JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

EIGHTH GRADE NOTES

The eighth grade composition classes celebrated Lincoln's birthday by telling Lincoln anecdotes. From these stories we are more able to fully appreciate Lincoln's quick wit, keen sense of humor and human sympathy.

A number of students have made attractive Lincoln booklets. Extra credit was earned for these works.

An interesting surprise contest was conducted in the eighth grade History classes. The pictures of 24 world notables were on display in Miss Marshall's room for one week. Friday a recognition test was given. Robert Cohen and Jack Temple received a perfect score in the test while Edward Hicks and Helen Lucas had them all right but one.

An interesting report on the life of Abraham Lincoln was made by Elsie Lukenbach in the A History class.

Want Ad Column:
1. By Miss Marshall a more wide awake AII class.
2. By Howard Peterson more time to sleep.
3. By the AI class a plug for the leak in the gas tank for our airplanes so we can win the History contest.
4. By Miss Campbell something to awaken the AI class.
5. By James Cunningham a greased hall for sliding.
6. By Miss Justin no more blue Mondays.
7. By Mrs. Fleming better behaved boys in the AII class.
8. By Elaine Tracy longer sewing periods.
9. By Gladys Anderson fewer clauses in grammar tests.
10. By all of us refreshments between classes.
11. By Miss Campbell a little work from Stuart J.

EXCHANGE

For those who may be interested in looking over our exchange, a section near the left of Miss Corfield's desk in the library has been set aside for that purpose.

At the Bemidji high school the students indulge in sunlight, dances held every third Friday at 3:45 in their gym. The students dance to the music of the high school radio.

The Tech high school paper, St. Cloud, had a very clever feature on their aggregation of nationalities. It said "Heinz 57" has nothing on Tech when it comes to variety. We might well say something to this effect!

By the Croftronite we understand they intend to win from us when they play here February 27. Will they?

Declamation Blues
I'm going to enter the contest, I don't know the reason I do.
I know I'll be scared.
For them I've never cared.
But each year I'm in it anew.

I know there is no use to enter. But somehow I just can't stay out. Some day I may learn. Those contests to spurn. And this learned I'll give a great shout.

And you, who must read these poor verses,
You'll pray for me please, loud and long,
I fear it's no use.
I just can't cut loose,
Less helped by some prayer good and strong.

ENTIRE CAST CARRIES PARTS WITH REMARKABLE EASE

"Tiger House," the Junior class play put on for a large appreciative audience Monday evening in the high school auditorium, was pronounced a huge success.

A net profit of about $210 was gained for the Junior class with which they will be able to put on the Junior-Senior Prom in the spring and finance the class through the remainder of the year.

At the matinee for grade children 450 tickets were sold. In the evening the cast performed to an approximate audience of 800 people.

The play itself was a mystery centered around a necklace stolen by Emma Lowrie's aunt from a tiger worshipped by a tribe of Africans.

The heroine, Emma Lowrie, was to stay in Mystery Manor for a certain length of time in order to inherit the fortune of her deceased aunt, and during this time the gruesome things begin to happen. Oswald, a bug collector, Peg Van Ess, a flapper, and Aunt Sophia with her large upper plate, furnish the needed comical break to the mysterious tension pervading the whole play. This was caused by the doings of Arthur, also a relation to Emma who is found to be jewel mad and, in the end, to be the Tiger Man who, with his accomplice, Thompson, who passed as an animal trainer searching for an escaped tiger, attempt to frighten Emma by making the weird stories in connection with the place come true. Shining green eyes, lighted lamps and many other grotesque and terrifying tricks of their own concoction are used. The Mystery woman, Arthur's wife, almost spoiled their plans, necessitating several attempts on her life. Macintosh, the hero and sweetheart of Emma, comes disguised as a boatman to help Emma. He is the detective who catches the crooks. Yami, an African priest, comes in search of the necklace as a Hindu crystal gazer. Mrs. Murdoch, the old housekeeper, looks after the interests of Emma and her guests.

The play finished in a very grand manner with the finding of the secret room back of the fireplace and the discovery of the necklace under Yami's crystal. Of course, Emma and Macintosh were united as the curtain descended in a manner professional enough to satisfy the most critical audience.

The Junior Class sincerely thanks the Patek Furniture Co., O'Brien Mercantile Co., J. C. Penney Co. and Peterson Clothing Co. for the costumes and furniture loaned them in such a gracious manner.

The cast was:
Emma Lowrie—Dorothy Kinney.
Yami, a Hindu—John Folsom.
Aunt Sophia—Esther Kukko.
Mrs. Murdoch—Louise Klusman.
Mr. Macintosh—Joseph Marchel.
Arthur Hale—LeRoy Peterson.
Oswald—Gerald Hall.
Peg Van Ess—Frances Reese.
Thompson—Bernard Lind.
The "Mystery Woman"—Marjorie Forsberg.

Those who helped were:
Business Manager—Anna Cass.
Stage Manager—Robert Crust.
Assistant Stage Manager—Parker Campbell.
Stage Craftsman—Mr. Rosel.
Lights—Mr. Penrose.
General Assistant—Mr. Ford.
Directors—Miss O'Brien and Miss Clausen.

Alumnus Plays Violin In Assembly Program

Mr. Dammann, the announcer "program," heralded the short program and skits at the assembly call, Friday, with the usual announcements first.

The program opened with two beautiful compositions, "Spanish Dance" and "Moonlight and Roses" by the alumnus, Victor Bourgeois. The selections with the accompaniment of Miss Rickard were very well given and received.

After this bit of melody, out went the lights and a most spooky unknown voice foretold the appearance of a few skits from "Tiger House." After a short lapse of time several disguised people appeared in the characters of heroine, hero, maiden aunt, bug collector, desperado, dude, mystery woman, servant, and last, but not least, a modern young flapper.

As an advertisement, the skits were good, and as a show, it was great.

PAVING PROJECTS GET OPPOSITION

Council Abandons Paving South 5th
From Norwood to Oak When Petition Received

OTHER PROTESTS IN

Alderman Lyonnais Feels That Assessments for Paving Would be Burdensome

One paving project was indefinitely abandoned while others in the vicinity affected were laid on the table temporarily for further investigation and report as to assessable property.

Owners of lots in Blocks 125 and 127 protested by petition the proposed paving of South Fifth street between Norwood and Oak streets.

The protest was made in the statement that 14 of the lots to be assessed for the paving improvement are owned by widows to whom additional assessment would be a hardship.

Alderman W. J. Lyonnais also reported that several property owners were opposed to paying assessment for the proposed paving on Norwood street between 5th and 6th streets. George Schibb by letter also protested the paving of Oak between 5th and 6th streets.

"I would like to see the paving in but I am afraid that it might become a burden on the property owners in the blocks affected," said Mr. Lyonnais. On motion of Aldermen Lyonnais and Frank B. Johnson, the petition protesting the paving of South 5th street between Norwood and Oak was received and action deferred indefinitely on the paving.

GAS COMPANY HERE EARNS $6,379.08

Brief Financial Report of Past Year
for Northern States Power
Made to Council

Return of earnings and expenditures for the 12 months ended December 31, 1930 as made February 2 and submitted to the city council last evening shows the condition of the Northern States Power Co. division here as follows:

Gross earnings $39,809.40
Operating expenses exclusive
of depreciation 33,430.32

Net earnings $6,379.08

It was explained in connection with the report that fixed charges for interest on funded debt, interest on floating debt and amortization covers the Northern States Power Co. as a whole, no part is specifically applicable to Brainerd and therefore it is impossible to allocate any of this charge to the Brainerd division.

100 Cases of Flu Cared for at University of Minnesota

Minneapolis, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—More than 100 cases of influenza are being cared for at the University of Minnesota, Dr. H. B. Lees, health chief, reported today. Lees said the epidemic probably will last two weeks.

HEALTH NOW BEST IN TWENTY YEARS

"If I live to be a hundred years old I will never be able to thank the friend enough who recommended

Mrs. MARGARET WIESENDANGER
ed Sargon to me," declared Mrs. Margaret Wiesendanger, 140 Beaumont Ave., Whitefish Bay, Milwaukee.

"For over twelve years I suffered with constipation, and almost every night during that time I had to take some kind of laxative. This got my stomach in an awful condition and even the lightest food upset me. My kidneys seemed affected and neuritic pains at times nearly drove me distracted."

"Since taking Sargon and Sargon Pills my troubles are over and I am in better health than I have been for twenty years. I'll never be without this wonderful treatment again."

THOMPSON BROS. BUY OUT CLAUSEN

Business Now to be Conducted as
Thompson Brothers Concrete
Works

OPERATED SINCE 1924

Efficient in Manufacture of Concrete
Blocks, Well Curbing, Tile
and Chimney Blocks

The firm of Thompson Brothers and Clausen has been dissolved and the business carried on under that name is now to be known as Thompson Bros. Concrete Works. The change of ownership brings R. B. Thompson and D. C. Thompson in control, Julius C. Clausen having sold his interests to them.

Thompson Brothers and Clausen formed partnership in 1914 after they had spent several years as employees of men engaged in concrete work. They have engaged in the general contracting business but in recent years have confined themselves to the development of the manufacture of concrete products. They have been continuously in business in Brainerd since 1914 and have earned a wide reputation for the excellent quality of their workmanship. Their plant at 107 Front street for the manufacturing of concrete blocks, well curbing, tile and chimney blocks has been expanded considerably since 1914. It is equipped with a Papke automatic concrete block machine and storage racks for handling the various manufactured products.

The new firm, Thompson Bros. Concrete Works, will continue in the concrete contracting business and will endeavor to give the same amount of satisfaction in their work that the old firm did in the past.

There are many places in and around Brainerd where their work has rendered years of service.

The City of Brainerd and its various subdivisions have entered into contracts with Thompson Bros. and Clausen which have been satisfactorily carried out. Crow Wing county has also employed the firm on several jobs.

Mr. Clausen has not been active in the past few years in the work of Thompson Bros. and Clausen due to other interests. He is the local representative of Frigidaire and Campbell oil burners to which business he will devote his attention.

Roof Fire Fighting Costs 10 Times That of the Actual Damage

While the roof fire resulted in damage of only $3, the cost of fighting the small blaze was $30. Fire Chief Frank Fuller reported today as he urged homeowners again to keep chimneys clean and thus keep to a minimum this type of fire.

The fire referred to was a roof fire at the home of Ed. Murphy, 305 Nor. 10th street at 6:20 p. m. Monday caused by sparks from the chimney.

DISAPPROVAL OF GAS LAW VOICED

Council Votes Against Second Reading
of 22 Page Gasoline
Ordinance

The majority of the city council members temporarily expressed their disapproval of the proposed gasoline ordinance last evening by voting against the second reading of the regulations set forth in 22 pages.

The ordinance was proposed for its second reading by Aldermen Ernest Rittari and W. J. Hall and the motion was declared lost.

Before a vote, gasoline and oil dealers in the city expressed objections to the proposed ordinance claiming that if passed it would force the companies to move their storage tanks out of the city rather than build dykes.

To further inform oil men and others of the complete contents of the ordinance the purchasing committee was authorized to have copies placed in hands of those interested. The manner of these copies was left with the committee with power to act.

SEVEN TO ATTEND LEAGUE LUNCHEON

Brainerd Women Voters Delegation to Hear Governor and
Lieutenant Governor

AT ST. PAUL FRIDAY, FEB. 20

Local League Favors Waiting Period
After Application for
Marriage License

One of the most interesting meetings the League of Women Voters has ever held was the one conducted by Mrs. Stewart Mills at the Ransford hotel dining room Monday afternoon. Mrs. Mills is the Legal Status chairman of the League and the subject was the five day waiting period between the application for and issuance of a marriage license.

The League chairman, Mrs. M. W. Richards, called the meeting to order and read a letter from the state secretary, inviting all the members to attend a luncheon at the Lowry hotel on Friday, February 20, at which the governor and lieutenant governor will speak and after which they will visit the legislature in a body. Mrs. A. M. Opsahl stated that if the Brainerd delegation would let Mr. Opsahl know its size, he would have chairs for them on the floor, which would give them a better opportunity to hear the debates than listening from the gallery. Seven women have signified their intention to attend and several others were considering the matter.

After a few preliminaries, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Mills who had a well planned program worked out. Mrs. Rose Parker gave a very interesting historical background of the marriage license. Although the colonists had been accustomed to hearing the bans published in church and to having the marriage ceremony performed by clergymen, they found it impractical here as there were many communities without churches or ministers. So the civil officers gradually usurped the church's prerogative. The license was the substitute for bans and civil officers performed the marriage ceremony.

Mrs. A. C. Weber then gave some of the reasons why there was need for this waiting period. She quoted Judge P. W. Guilford of the juvenile court of Hennepin county who said that any judge in his position couldn't fail to see the need for such a waiting period and to realize that many domestic tragedies might be averted by such a law. She then read the proposed law which provoked a lively discussion. Some of those present felt that both parties should be required to apply for the license and be questioned by the clerk. Others felt that publication of the application for license should be required.

Mrs. Zapffe gave the reasons why the recording of marriages should be required. She cited an instance where a common law wife had appeared after a man's decease of whom the legal wife had no knowledge, and put in a valid claim for a share in his estate. She stated that, since 1911, the American Bar Association had gone on record favoring a record of all marriages as such a law would greatly simplify the settlement of estates.

The clever dialog which was prepared for broadcasting purposes and which put into dramatic form the need for a waiting period, was effectively read by Mrs. M. N. Richards and Mrs. B. A. Pulkabek. This summed up all the arguments for the proposed bill and answered some of the questions raised in discussion. It formed a fitting close for a most interesting meeting.

GAS COMPANY HERE EARNS $6,379.08

Brief Financial Report of Past Year
for Northern States Power
Made to Council

Return of earnings and expenditures for the 12 months ended December 31, 1930 as made February 2 and submitted to the city council last evening shows the condition of the Northern States Power Co. division here as follows:

Gross earnings $39,809.40
Operating expenses exclusive
of depreciation 33,430.32

Net earnings $ 6,379.08

It was explained in connection with the report that fixed charges for interest on funded debt, interest on floating debt and amortization covers the Northern States Power Co. as a whole, no part is specifically applicable to Brainerd and therefore it is impossible to allocate any of this charge to the Brainerd division.

100 Cases of Flu Cared for at University of Minnesota

Minneapolis, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—More than 100 cases of influenza are being cared for at the University of Minnesota, Dr. H. B. Lees, health chief, reported today. Lees said the epidemic probably will last two weeks.

HEALTH NOW BEST IN TWENTY YEARS

"If I live to be a hundred years old I will never be able to thank the friend enough who recommended

Mrs. MARGARET WIESENDANGER

ed Sargon to me," declared Mrs. Margaret Wiesendanger, 140 Beaumont Ave., Whitefish Bay, Milwaukee.

"For over twelve years I suffered with constipation, and almost every night during that time I had to take some kind of laxative. This got my stomach in an awful condition and even the lightest food upset me. My kidneys seemed affected and neuritis pains at times nearly drove me distracted."

"Since taking Sargon and Sargon Pills my troubles are over and I am in better health than I have been for twenty years. I'll never be without this wonderful treatment again."

THOMPSON BROS. BUY OUT CLAUSEN

Business Now to be Conducted as
Thompson Brothers Concrete
Works

OPERATED SINCE 1924

Efficient in Manufacture of Concrete
Blocks, Well Curbing, Tile
and Chimney Blocks

The firm of Thompson Brothers and Clausen has been dissolved and the business carried on under that name is now to be known as Thompson Bros. Concrete Works. The change of ownership brings R. B. Thompson and D. C. Thompson in control, Julius C. Clausen having sold his interests to them.

Thompson Brothers and Clausen formed partnership in 1914 after they had spent several years as employees of men engaged in concrete work. They have engaged in the general contracting business but in recent years have confined themselves to the development of the manufacture of concrete products. They have been continuously in business in Brainerd since 1914 and have earned a wide reputation for the excellent quality of their workmanship. Their plant at 107 Front street for the manufacturing of concrete blocks, well curbing, tile and chimney blocks has been expanded considerably since 1914. It is equipped with a Papke automatic concrete block machine and storage racks for handling the various manufactured products.

The new firm, Thompson Bros. Concrete Works, will continue in the concrete contracting business and will endeavor to give the same amount of satisfaction in their work that the old firm did in the past.

There are many places in and around Brainerd where their work has rendered years of service.

The City of Brainerd and its various subdivisions have entered into contracts with Thompson Bros. and Clausen which have been satisfactorily carried out. Crow Wing county has also employed the firm on several jobs.

Mr. Clausen has not been active in the past few years in the work of Thompson Bros. and Clausen due to other interests. He is the local representative of Frigidaire and Campbell oil burners to which business he will devote his attention.

Roof Fire Fighting Costs 10 Times That of the Actual Damage

While the roof fire resulted in damage of only $3, the cost of fighting the small blaze was $30, Fire Chief Frank Fuller reported today as he urged homeowners again to keep chimneys clean and thus keep to a minimum this type of fire.

The fire referred to was a roof fire at the home of Ed. Murphy, 305 Norwood street at 6:20 p. m. Monday caused by sparks from the chimney.

DISAPPROVAL OF GAS LAW VOICED

Council Votes Against Second Reading
of 22 Page Gasoline
Ordinance

The majority of the city council members temporarily expressed their disapproval of the proposed gasoline ordinance last evening by voting against the second reading of the regulations set forth in 22 pages.

The ordinance was proposed for its second reading by Aldermen Ernest Ritari and W. J. Hall and the motion was declared lost.

Before a vote, gasoline and oil dealers in the city expressed objections to the proposed ordinance claiming that if passed it would force the companies to move their storage tanks out of the city rather than build dykes.

To further inform oil men and others of the complete contents of the ordinance the purchasing committee was authorized to have copies placed in hands of those interested. The manner of these copies was left with the committee with power to act.

SEVEN TO ATTEND LEAGUE LUNCHEON

Brainerd Women Voters Delegation to
Hear Governor and
Lieutenant Governor

AT ST. PAUL FRIDAY, FEB. 20

Local League Favors Waiting Period
After Application for
Marriage License

One of the most interesting meetings the League of Women Voters has ever held was the one conducted by Mrs. Stewart Mills at the Ransford hotel dining room Monday afternoon. Mrs. Mills is the Legal Status chairman of the League and the subject was the five day waiting period between the application for and issuance of a marriage license.

The League chairman, Mrs. M. W. Richards, called the meeting to order and read a letter from the state secretary, inviting all the members to attend a luncheon at the Lowry hotel on Friday, February 20, at which the governor and lieutenant governor will speak and after which they will visit the legislature in a body. Mrs. A. M. Opsahl stated that if the Brainerd delegation would let Mr. Opsahl know its size, he would have chairs for them on the floor, which would give them a better opportunity to hear the debates than listening from the gallery. Seven women have signified their intention to attend and several others were considering the matter.

After a few preliminaries, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Mills who had a well planned program worked out. Mrs. Rose Parker gave a very interesting historical background of the marriage license. Although the colonists had been accustomed to hearing the bans published in church and to having the marriage ceremony performed by clergymen, they found it impractical here as there were many communities without churches or ministers. So the civil officers gradually usurped the church's prerogative. The license was the substitute for bans and civil officers performed the marriage ceremony.

Mrs. A. C. Weber then gave some of the reasons why there was need for this waiting period. She quoted Judge P. W. Guilford of the juvenile court of Hennepin county who said that any judge in his position couldn't fail to see the need for such a waiting period and to realize that many domestic tragedies might be averted by such a law. She then read the proposed law which provoked a lively discussion. Some of those present felt that both parties should be required to apply for the license and be questioned by the clerk. Others felt that publication of the application for license should be required.

Mrs. Zapffe gave the reasons why the recording of marriages should be required. She cited an instance where a common law wife had appeared after a man's decease of whom the legal wife had no knowledge, and put in a valid claim for a share in his estate. She stated that, since 1911, the American Bar Association had gone on record favoring a record of all marriages as such a law would greatly simplify the settlement of estates.

The clever dialog which was prepared for broadcasting purposes and which put into dramatic form the need for a waiting period, was effectively read by Mrs. M. N. Richards and Mrs. B. A. Pulkabek. This summed up all the arguments for the proposed bill and answered some of the questions raised in discussion. It formed a fitting close for a most interesting meeting.

SCHAAF KNOCKS OUT DANIELS IN 1 ROUND

FIGHT WAS A FIERCE ONE WHILE IT WAS WAGED

TRADED RIGHTS AS THEY MET IN THE CENTER OF THE RING

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Ernie Schaaf, the Boston heavyweight whom Jack Sharkey has been training and in whose future Sharkey has much faith, knocked out Dick Daniels of Minneapolis last night in one round. The fight was a fierce one while it lasted. Both men left their corners swinging and they traded rights as they met in the center of the ring. Daniels gave way after the first exchange and was backed to the ropes, where Schaaf floored him with a short right.

Daniels was up at nine, but fell again without being hit. He was up again after another nine count, and swung a terrific left. Schaaf sidestepped and returned a right which ended the fight 62 seconds after it had started.

Schaaf weighed in at 198 pounds, Daniels at 184.

With Sharkey refereeing, Art Lasky, 185, Minneapolis, beat Mike Mandell, 186, in eight vicious rounds. In the sixth, Mandell was knocked out of the ring. Sharkey received more applause than the fighters.

Med Coleman, 153, Duluth boxer who substituted at the last minute for Paul Libert, Somerset, Wis., easily won the decision in four rounds from Harry Greb, 151 3/4, Minneapolis.

Wallie Wohlwend, Lake City heavyweight, won a technical knockout from Bill Anderson, Minneapolis, in the second round. The bell saved Anderson in the first round and when he came up for the second in a weakened condition, Wohlwend dropped him.

Arnie Arnold, St. Paul, outpointed Vern Butler, Minneapolis, in four rounds while Bill Oppgaard, St. Paul, won a decision by a slight margin from Ernie Cotter, Minneapolis, in four rounds.

Receipts were estimated at $14,000 from the 7,324 persons who paid to see the show.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Joe Sharkey, 149 1/2, Albion, Mich., scored a technical knockout over Chip Freeman, 159 3/4, Buffalo, N. Y., in five rounds here last night.

Joey Freeman, 132 1/2, Chicago, won a 6-round decision from Jackie Davis, 134 1/2, Springfield, Ill.

SPORTS KAYOES

By "HAPPY"

Well, we're all set now for one of the big high school basketball games of the season tonight at the high school gym. From all the dope it looks very nearly like a draw tonight—but despite that fact we are picking Brainerd to win—we may be wrong.

The reason we have for picking Brainerd is the style of play that Coach Dammann's men have used all season. It is not a spectacular style of play but it wins ball games—there are only two defeats chalked up against the high school this season with tournament time just around the corner.

Some claim this is due to luck and poor opposition. They are welcome to their opinion but we DO NOT agree with them. We feel that the victories are due to a peculiar style of play and to the fact that Dammann has a squad of some nine or ten players, each having about the same ability. With this kind of a squad it is possible to make substitutions without affecting seriously the drive and ability of the team as a whole. In the past with a five man team, a substitution on account of injury, too many personalities or an "off" night for one of the players weakened the team seriously.

Today we find that Minnesota has a pretty chance at the Big Ten title. It was the helping hand of Illinois that gave the Gophers their chance. The dopest picked the Illini to go down in defeat submissively last night. They didn't—proving that dope doesn't have a lot to do with it.

Now it looks as though the game of the season is going to be staged in Minneapolis when the Wildcats come there soon to defend their slender margin of one game. It is the one chance that the Gophers have been hoping for all these years—let's hope they make the best of it.

The stock of Dick Daniels as a coming leading heavyweight contender took an awful drop last night in Minneapolis. Maybe Dick was in too much of that so-called hypnotic glare of Mr. Jack Sharkey, who seconded Schaaf. Mr. Sharkey has a reputation of trying to stare the opposition down before the sound of the opening gong. But we also believe that the agile fists of Mr. Schaaf had a great deal to do with Dick's downfall. Now to start the little act of rebuilding Daniels in the public eye—it must be discouraging to some of these managers!

A rather conservative Brainerd business man made the statement today that he would give a dollar to see the re-staging of the Nagurski-Brainerd Independents battle. He believes that a return game would pack the high

FALLS TONIGHT, INLAND RANGERS THURSDAY

SAVOLDI MAKES SUCCESSFUL DEBUT IN PRO WRESTLING

Kansas City, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Joe Savoldi, star Notre Dame fullback last season, made an auspicious start in professional wrestling last night. He sent Don DeLong, Paris, France, to the hospital with a dislocated shoulder suffered in the body slam which gave Savoldi second and victorious fall.

Savoldi took the first fall in 8:30 and the second in 4:02, both with body slams.

Bull Montana, Los Angeles, threw "Sailor Jack" Woods, New York, with a reverse headlock in 21:20.

BASKETBALL BIG TEN RACE GROWS EXCITING

COMES AS RESULT OF FIRST DEFEAT OF SEASON FOR NORTHWESTERN

Chicago, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The Big Ten basketball race took on new interest today as a result of the first defeat of the season for Northwestern and the unexpected strength shown last night by Illinois, Chicago and Iowa, three second division teams.

Illinois upset Northwestern at Evanston, 35-28, and broke Northwestern's winning streak which had extended to twelve straight, seven of them in the conference. Leading all the way, Illinois outplayed Northwestern in every department of the game.

Minnesota wrestled a hard-fought 30-26 victory from Purdue at Minneapolis, and gained a full game on Northwestern. With the Gophers only a game behind the Wildcats, the race may yet see a flying finish as Northwestern has a game left with Minnesota at Minneapolis.

In the two other games last night the underdogs came through victoriously, Chicago defeating Ohio State, 26-25, and Iowa nosing out Wisconsin, 19-17. Both games were thrillers, being decided on free throws after the gun had been fired.

Northwestern's defeat was largely the result of the sensational play of Eddie Kamp, slim, elusive Illinois forward, who scored 15 points for his team, making six field goals. Joe Reiff, Northwestern's sophomore forward and leading scorer of the Big Ten, also made 15 points, but seven of them were on free throws. Reiff was the only Northwestern player who scored more than one field goal.

Illinois' stout defense in the first half held Northwestern to two field goals, and but for free throws made by the Wildcats the league leaders would have been put to rout. Illinois led at half-time, 17-11.

Two points behind and two seconds left to play, Chicago came from behind to defeat Ohio State when Ashley, Maroons' guard, shot a field goal to tie the score. In making the goal Ashley was fouled, and he calmly stepped to the free-throw line and sank the winning point.

With the score tied 17-17, Rebhoff, Wisconsin guard, committed a personal foul on Chuck Williams, Iowa forward, who made both throws good to give the Hawkeyes the victory.

school gym—we are inclined to agree with him for the battle just past has created plenty of discussion.

Although the game is over many of the sidelines are still telling just how that game should have been handled. We stick to our statement of yesterday—"We liked the way in which Bill Dammann handled the affair—it is impossible for anyone to please all of the fans all of the time."

Many seem to feel that the Nagurski men weren't fouled often enough, yet the figures show that 15 persons were called on the Nagurski team to 5 for the locals. No, not nearly all of the fouls on either side were called—if that had been done the game would have resolved itself into a free throwing contest. But we contend that the ratio of fouls called was a just one and still allowed the boys to fight it out with a little zest in their work.

Had some of the fans voiced their objections at various decisions a little less strongly the result might have been different. We don't want Brainerd fans to get the reputation of being poor sports. It is the score of a game that is remembered longest, not whether or not the referee called this foul or let that one go by. In other words, it is our opinion that the referee is paid to govern the contest, so why not let him do it?

TWO FAST GAMES BOOKED AT B. H. S. COURT THIS WEEK

FIFTY CARS TO BRING LARGE CROWD OF FANS FROM LITTLE FALLS

INLAND RANGERS, OF CROSBY, BOOK RETURN GAME WITH RUSSELL'S QUINT

The first of two fast cage games in Brainerd this week at the Washington high school gymnasium is scheduled tonight at 8:15 o'clock when the Little Falls high school meets Brainerd high in the first clash of the current season.

The other important game of the week is the game Thursday evening when the Inland Steel Rangers of Crosby-Ironton invade Brainerd to play the Russell's Creamery quintet in a return game, the Rangers having won the first encounter by 28 to 24. One section of bleachers has been installed at the gym to take care of the large crowd expected.

The game should prove to be close as the teams are evenly matched. Little Falls and Brainerd are doped to clash in the semi-finals of the district tournament in Brainerd within a month.

Preliminary games will precede both headliners.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX LINEUP IS UNCERTAIN ONE

MANAGER DONIE BUSH ARRANGING TRADES TO STRENGTHEN CLUB

HE HAS MAKINGS OF A HARD HITTING OUTFIELD IN BUNCH OF VETERANS

This is the seventh of a series of articles detailing efforts of American League clubs to strengthen in preparation for the 1931 season. Tomorrow—the Boston Red Sox.

New York, Feb. 17.—The 1931 lineup for the Chicago White Sox remains uncertain with Manager Donie Bush still endeavoring to arrange trades to strengthen his club.

Barring trades, a tentative infield lineup, as prepared by Henry P. Edwards, manager of the American League service bureau, would be Radcliffe from the Southeastern League on first; Gregory Mulleavy, tried at short last year, on second; Luke Appling from Atlanta at short; and Bill Cissell or Bill Kahn at third.

That will leave John Ryan, late of Holy Cross, Irving Jeffries, optioned to Toledo last year, Goff, a Piedmont League third baseman; Willingham, Dallas infielder, and Johnny Kerr, with the Sox for two seasons, to scrap for the utility berth.

Cissell and Kamm are the only experienced men and Bush may revamp his lineup to use both the veterans and Kerr who hit well last season.

Bush has the makings of a hard hitting outfield in the veterans Carl Reynolds, Smead Jolley and Johnny Watwood. Watwood also can be utilized at first base where he played for two months in 1930. New outfielders acquired by Chicago are Fred Eichardt, who had a previous trial with Cleveland; and Bob Finlator, purchased from Selma. Bob Fothergill is available for utility and pinch hitting duty and Hoffman and Blackerby have been recalled for Indianapolis and Birmingham respectively.

The Sox have plenty of catchers with Benny Tate, 1930 first stringer; Frank Grube, purchased from Buffalo; Moe Berg, out of the game last year because of an injured knee, and Walter Henline, veteran National Leaguer purchased from Toledo.

Pitching promises to be the Chicago forte, if Al Thomas, who had a lame arm during the greater part of the 1930 campaign, regains his effectiveness. In addition to Thomas, Bush has the great Ted Lyons, Pat Caraway, Urban Faber, Garland Braxton, Harold McKani and Vic Frazier.

Jim Moore, purchased from Little Rock, is the only legitimate rookie aside from Frazier who refused to report last year. Bob Weiland will be back for another trial and young Ed Walsh still is on the roster.

If the Sox are successful in attempts to secure a seasoned infielder who can hit they may develop into a dangerous club.

Bar to Education

There ought to be some easy way of looking up information in the encyclopedia. As it is now, we start looking for one subject, and get interested in the article about another, and before we find the subject we started after, it's quitting time.—Kansas City Star.

BENNY BASS BOASTS OF UNIQUE BOXING RECORD

Philadelphia, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Benny Bass, world junior lightweight champion, today boasted a unique boxing record—that of fighting seven rounds to earn a two-round knockout.

Bass met Bud Taylor, Terre Haute veteran, in a scheduled 10-round bout last night and was given the judges decision in the second round by a technical knockout when Taylor fell to the canvas and claimed a foul.

After Bass had been given the decision, Chairman Frank Weiner of the Pennsylvania athletic commission ordered the fighters to continue "as an exhibition to give the fans their money's worth." Bass was unable to repeat the knockout during the additional five rounds.

BYES WIN TWO GAMES FROM LIVELY QUINT

The Bye Clothing Co. took the Lively Auto Co. team into camp last night for two games, losing the first by only one pin. Only 38 pins difference was seen in the total scores. Van Essen rolled high with 572.

Schmity's forfeited three games to E. M. B. A. in the others scheduled at Van's alleys. Nelson rolled 565.

JEALOUS WIFE IN RETALIATORY ACTS AGAINST HUSBAND

Evanston, Ill., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Jennings' reaction to her suspicions that her husband, Frank, was too friendly with other women, caused the husband to complain to Evanston police.

He said his wife retaliated against him with a series of annoyances, including the following:

She dismantled their oil stove, hiding the parts, so he could not prepare his meals.
She tore and stamped on a new dress he purchased for her.
She severed power and telephone wires into their home.
She piled soiled clothes under his bed.
She tied into knots or tore his bed clothing, socks and shirts.
Mrs. Jennings promised she would desist in the future.

Longworths to Celebrate Their Silver Wedding Anniversary Today

Washington, Feb. 17.—(AP)—To celebrate their silver wedding anniversary, Speaker of the House Nicholas Longworth will give a dinner party for a small group of friends tonight including some of the guests at the White House 25 years ago. Mrs. Longworth will wear one of her tulle-trousseau gowns, and other ladies present will resurrect frocks of the 1906 period.

SCHAAF KNOCKS OUT DANIELS IN 1 ROUND

FIGHT WAS A FIERCE ONE WHILE IT WAS WAGED

TRADED RIGHTS AS THEY MET IN THE CENTER OF THE RING

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 17.—(UP)—Ernie SchAAF, the Boston heavyweight whom Jack Sharkey has been training and in whose future Sharkey has much faith, knocked out Dick Daniels of Minneapolis last night in one round. The fight was a fierce one while it lasted. Both men left their corners swinging and they traded rights as they met in the center of the ring. Daniels gave way after the first exchange and was backed to the ropes, where SchAAF floored him with a short right.

Daniels was up at nine, but fell again without being hit. He was up again after another nine count, and swung a terrific left. SchAAF sidestepped and returned a right which ended the fight 62 seconds after it had started.

SchAAF weighed in at 198 pounds, Daniels at 184. With Sharkey refereeing, Art Lasky, 185, Minneapolis, beat Mike Mandell, 186, in eight vicious rounds. In the sixth, Mandell was knocked out of the ring. Sharkey received more applause than the fighters.

Mel Coleman, 153, Duluth boxer who substituted at the last minute for Paul Libert, Somerset, Wis., easily won the decision in four rounds from Harry Greb, 151 3/4, Minneapolis.

Wallie Wohlwend, Lake City heavyweight, won a technical knockout from Bill Anderson, Minneapolis, in the second round. The bell saved Anderson in the first round and when he came up for the second in a weakened condition, Wohlwend dropped him.

Arnie Arnold, St. Paul, outpointed Vern Butler, Minneapolis, in four rounds while Bill Oppengard, St. Paul, won a decision by a slight margin from Ernie Cotter, Minneapolis, in four rounds.

Receipts were estimated at $14,000 from the 7,324 persons who paid to see the show.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Joe Sharkey, 149 1/2, Albion, Mich., scored a technical knockout over Chip Freeman, 159 3/4, Buffalo, N. Y., in five rounds here last night.

Joe Freeman, 132 1/2, Chicago, won a 6-round decision from Jackie Davis, 134 1/2, Springfield, Ill.

SPORTS KAYOES

By "TAPPY"

Well, we're all set now for one of the big high school basketball games of the season tonight at the high school gym. From all the dope it looks very nearly like a draw tonight—but despite that fact we are picking Brainerd to win—we may be wrong.

The reason we have for picking Brainerd is the style of play that Coach Dammann's men have used all season. It is not a spectacular style of play but it wins ball games—there are only two defeats chalked up against the high school this season with tournament time just around the corner.

Some claim this is due to luck and poor opposition. They are welcome to their opinion but we DO NOT agree with them. We feel that the victories are due to a peculiar style of play and to the fact that Dammann has a squad of some nine or ten players, each having about the same ability. With this kind of a squad it is possible to make substitutions without affecting seriously the drive and ability of the team as a whole. In the past with a five man team, a substitution on account of injury, too many personals or an "off night" for one of the players weakened the team seriously.

Today we find that Minnesota has a pretty chance at the Big Ten title. It was the helping hand of Illinois that gave the Gophers their chance. The dopests picked the Illini to go down in defeat submissively last night. They didn't—proving that dope doesn't have a lot to do with it.

Now it looks as though the game of the season is going to be staged in Minneapolis when the Wildcats come there soon to defend their slender margin of one game. It is the one chance that the Gophers have been hoping for all these years—let's hope they make the best of it.

The stock of Dick Daniels as a coming leading heavyweight contender took an awful drop last night in Minneapolis. Maybe Dick was in too much of that so-called hypnotic glare of Mr. Jack Sharkey, who seconded SchAAF. Mr. Sharkey has a reputation of trying to stare the opposition down before the sound of the opening gong. But we also believe that the agile fists of Mr. SchAAF had a great deal to do with Dick's downfall. Now to start the little act of rebuilding Daniels in the public eye—it must be discouraging to some of these managers!

A rather conservative Brainerd businessman made the statement today that he would give a dollar to see the re-staging of the Nagurski-Brainerd Independents battle. He believes that a return game would pack the high

SAVOLDI MAKES SUCCESSFUL DEBUT IN PRO WRESTLING

Kansas City, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Joe Savoldi, star Notre Dame football back last season, made an auspicious start in professional wrestling last night. He sent Don DeLong, Paris, France, to the hospital with a dislocated shoulder suffered in the body slam which gave Savoldi second and victorious fall.

Savoldi took the first fall in 8:30 and the second in 4:02, both with body slams.

Bull Montana, Los Angeles, threw "Sailor Jack" Woods, New York, with a reverse headlock in 21:20.

BASKETBALL BIG TEN RACE GROWS EXCITING

COMES AS RESULT OF FIRST DEFEAT OF SEASON FOR NORTHWESTERN

Chicago, Feb. 17.—(UP)—The Big Ten basketball race took on new interest today as a result of the first defeat of the season for Northwestern and the unexpected strength shown last night by Illinois, Chicago and Iowa, three second division teams.

Illinois upset Northwestern at Evanston, 35-28, and broke Northwestern's winning streak which had extended to twelve straight, seven of them in the conference. Leading all the way, Illinois outplayed Northwestern in every department of the game.

Minnesota wrestled a hard-fought 30-26 victory from Purdue at Minneapolis, and gained a full game on Northwestern. With the Gophers only a game behind the Wildcats, the race may yet see a flying finish as Northwestern has a game left with Minnesota at Minneapolis.

In the two other games last night the underdogs came through victorious, Chicago defeating Ohio State, 26-25, and Iowa nosing out Wisconsin, 19-17. Both games were thrillers, being decided on free throws after the gun had been fired.

Northwestern's defeat was largely the result of the sensational play of Eddie Kamp, slim, elusive Illinois forward, who scored 15 points for his team, making six field goals. Joe Reiff, Northwestern's sophomore forward and leading scorer of the Big Ten, also made 15 points, but seven of them were on free throws. Reiff was the only Northwestern player who scored more than one field goal.

Illinois' stout defense in the first half held Northwestern to two field goals, and but for free throws made by the Wildcats, the league leaders would have been put to rout. Illinois led at half-time, 17-11.

Two points behind and two seconds left to play, Chicago came from behind to defeat Ohio State when Ashley, Maroons' guard, shot a field goal to tie the score. In making the goal Ashley was fouled, and he calmly stepped to the free-throw line and sank the winning point.

With the score tied 17-17 Rebbhoff, Wisconsin guard, committed a personal foul on Chuck Williams, Iowa forward, who made both throws good to give the Hawkeyes the victory.

school gym—we are inclined to agree with him for the battle just past has created plenty of discussion.

Although the game is over many of the sidelines are still telling just how that game should have been handled. We stick to our statement of yesterday—"We liked the way in which Bill Dammann handled the affair—it is impossible for anyone to please all of the fans all of the time."

Many seem to feel that the Nagurski men weren't fouled often enough, yet the figures show that 15 personals were called on the Nagurski team to 5 for the locals. No, not nearly all of the fouls on either side were called—if that had been done the game would have resolved itself into a free throwing contest. But we contend that the ratio of fouls called was a just one and still allowed the boys to fight it out with a little zest in their work.

Had some of the fans voiced their objections at various decisions a little less strongly the result might have been different. We don't want Brainerd fans to get the reputation of being poor sports. It is the score of a game that is remembered longest, not whether or not the referee called this foul or let that one go by. In other words, it is our opinion that the referee is paid to govern the contest, so why not let him do it?

TWO FAST GAMES BOOKED AT B. H. S. COURT THIS WEEK

FIFTY CARS TO BRING LARGE CROWD OF FANS FROM LITTLE FALLS

INLAND RANGERS, OF CROSBY, BOOK RETURN GAME WITH RUSSELL'S QUINT

The first of two fast cage games in Brainerd this week at the Washington high school gymnasium is scheduled tonight at 8:15 o'clock when the Little Falls high school meets Brainerd high in the first clash of the current season.

The other important game of the week is the game Thursday evening when the Inland Steel Rangers of Crosby-Ironton invade Brainerd to play the Russell's Creamery quintet in a return game, the Rangers having won the first encounter by 28 to 24.

One section of bleachers has been installed at the gym to take care of the large crowd expected.

The game should prove to be close as the teams are evenly matched.

Little Falls and Brainerd are hoped to clash in the semi-finals of the district tournament in Brainerd within a month.

Preliminary games will precede both headlines.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX LINEUP IS UNCERTAIN ONE

MANAGER DONIE BUSH ARRANGING TRADES TO STRENGTHEN CLUB

HE HAS MAKINGS OF A HARD HITTING OUTFIELD IN BUNCH OF VETERANS

This is the seventh of a series of articles detailing efforts of American League clubs to strengthen in preparation for the 1931 season. Tomorrow—the Boston Red Sox.

New York, Feb. 17.—The 1931 lineup for the Chicago White Sox remains uncertain with Manager Donie Bush still endeavoring to arrange trades to strengthen his club.

Barring trades, a tentative infield lineup, as prepared by Henry P. Edwards, manager of the American League service bureau, would be Radcliffe from the Southeastern League on first; Gregory Mulleavy, tried at short last year, on second; Luke Appling from Atlanta at short; and Bill Cissell or Bill Kahn at third.

That will leave John Ryan, late of Holy Cross, Irving Jeffries, optioned to Toledo last year, Goff, a Piedmont League third baseman; Willingham, Dallas infielder, and Johnny Kerr, with the Sox for two seasons, to scrap for the utility berths.

Cissell and Kamm are the only experienced men and Bush may revamp his lineup to use both the veterans and Kerr who hit well last season.

Bush has the makings of a hard hitting outfield in the veterans Carl Reynolds, Smead Jolley and Johnny Watwood. Watwood also can be utilized at first base where he played for two months in 1930. New outfielders acquired by Chicago are Fred Eichardt, who had a previous trial with Cleveland; and Bob Finlator, purchased from Selma. Bob Fothergill is available for utility and pinch hitting duty and Hoffman and Blackberry have been recalled for Indianapolis and Birmingham respectively.

The Sox have plenty of catchers with Benny Tate, 1930 first stringer; Frank Grube, purchased from Buffalo; Moe Berg, out of the game last year because of an injured knee, and Walter Henline, veteran National League pitcher from Toledo.

Pitching promises to be the Chicago forte, if Al Thomas, who had a lame arm during the greater part of the 1930 campaign, regains his effectiveness. In addition to Thomas, Bush has the great Ted Lyons, Pat Caraway, Urban Faber, Garland Braxton, Harold McKani and Vic Frazier.

Jim Moore, purchased from Little Rock, is the only legitimate rookie aside from Frazier who refused to report last year. Bob Weiland will be back for another trial and young Ed Walsh still is on the roster.

If the Sox are successful in attempts to secure a seasoned infielder who can hit they may develop into a dangerous club.

Bar to Education

There ought to be some easy way of looking up information in the encyclopedia. As it is now, we start looking for one subject, and get interested in the article about another, and before we find the subject we started after, it's quitting time.—Kansas City Star.

Record Small Man

BENNY BASS BOASTS OF UNIQUE BOXING RECORD

Philadelphia, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Benny Bass, world junior lightweight champion, today boasted a unique boxing record—that of fighting seven rounds to earn a two-round knockout.

Bass met Bud Taylor, Terre Haute veteran, in a scheduled 10-round bout last night and was given the judges' decision in the second round by a technical knockout when Taylor fell to the canvas and claimed a foul.

After Bass had been given the decision, Chairman Frank Weiner of the Pennsylvania athletic commission ordered the fighters to continue "as an exhibition to give the fans their money's worth." Bass was unable to repeat the knockout during the additional five rounds.
